DEMS TO DRAFT FDR TONIGHT DESPITE 11TH HOUR MESSAGE

Japanese Win Shut-Down of Burmese Road

British Bow to Japan's Demands Over Route to China In Spite of Hull Objections; Prince Appointed Premier In New Cabinet.

(By International News Service)

TOKYO—In defiance of official American objections, Great Britain and Japan today reached an agreement for closing the Burma road, over which military supplies have been flowing into China.

Discussing the agreement as Emperor Hirohito commanded Prince Fumimaro Konoye to succeed Admiral Mitsumasa Yonai as premier, an official foreign office spokesman took the attitude that the problems of American trade as involved in the Burma road closing were "immaterial to Japan."

The spokesman at the same time took occasion to deny persistent reports that Great Britain is attempting to mediate the Sino-Japanese war. Military operations against the regime of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek will continue "unremittingly," he said.

Britain will act in closing the Burma road, a step which marked a decided concession to Japan, at least so far as "face-saving" goes. The highway for the most part is impassable at this time of the year in any case because of heavy rains. But Britain's agreement to shut off a major avenue of military aid to China was hailed as a Japanese victory.

(Editor's Note—In an official declaration yesterday, Secretary of State Cordell Hull stated that closing of the road "would constitute unwarranted interpositions of obstacles to world trade.")

Coincident with the agreement, it was announced that since January, 1939, Great Britain, had forbidden export of arms and ammunition from Hong Kong.

For a period of three months from tomorrow, transit of all arms and ammunition as well as petroleum, trucks and railway material over the Burma road will be forbidden.

Japanese consular officials at Hong Kong and Rangoon will maintain close contact with British authorities regarding measures for rendering the prohibition effective.

There were no indications that Britain's concession with regard to the Indo-China route would curb in any manner Japan's imperialistic extension. On the contrary, it was freely predicted that

NAZIS RESUME BOMBING RAIDS

Daylight Attacks Retaliate For British Flights Over Germany.

(By United Press)

LONDON — German bombing fleets resumed their daylight raids on Great Britain today in apparent retaliation for relentless raids by the British Royal Air Force on militarily important areas of Germany, the low countries and France.

Bombs were dropped on northeast England in the early hours and the bombers were met by furious anti-aircraft fire.

Three German planes were known downed during the past 24 hours, and it was believed that a fourth was shot down over southwest England during the night.

British planes were raiding Germany with regularity for the 30th straight night, British planes had

ACCORD NEAR

Commissioners Meet Again on T. B. Convalescent Home.

County commissioners expected to complete negotiations today to obtain the Eleanor Thomas sanitarium on Lexington avenue as a convalescent home for county T. B. patients.

Commissioners met this morning with a spokesman for T. Amos Jones, owner of the sanitarium, and Dr. Lincoln Fisher, county T. B. physician, and it was believed that an announcement of the signing of a contract for the convalescent home would follow not later than Thursday.

The county has been attempting since last fall to lease or rent the structure because of its convenient location and facilities. It would provide space for at least 20 patients who are now kept in rest homes outside the county and for whose treatment the county must reimburse the state.

Sisters Reunited After 42 Years, One of Them Dies

EUCYRUS — A heart attack last night terminated the first reunion in 42 years of three sisters who came to the United States from Syria in 1898.

Mrs. Celpha Ameen Shaheen, 72, died at the home of a relative, Mrs. Joseph Dager, on North Sandusky avenue, where she was visiting her sisters, Mrs. John Kilbus, and Mrs. James Saliba, whom she had not seen since their arrival in America.

A meeting had been arranged last week at the Dager residence. Mrs. Shaheen came from her home in White Castle. Louisiana, and Mrs. Kilbus and Mrs. Saliba journeyed here from their homes in Moss Point, Miss., and Lawrence, Mass.

The sisters were visiting together when Mrs. Shaheen died at 5 p. m. The body was being sent today to White Castle for burial.

Annenberg Probation Petition Denied By Judge.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson today denied M. L. Annenberg's petition for probation.

Annenberg is under sentence to serve three years in prison for violation of the income tax laws.

The court also denied a motion for a six weeks extension of Annenberg's stay of execution, submitted Monday by the Philadelphia publisher's chief counsel, Weymouth Kirkland.

Due to Be Drafted for 3rd Term

Declaring, through Permanent Chairman Alben W. Barkley that he "has never had, and has not today, any desire or purpose to continue in the office of president, to be a candidate for that office or to be nominated by the convention for that office," President Roosevelt was scheduled to be drafted, probably tonight, by the Democratic convention in Chicago In his message to the convention, President Roosevelt released delegates pledged to him, but the entire crowd immediately started a long Roosevelt demonstration.

Here's Text of President's Message to Party Delegates

CHICAGO —(U.P.)— The 146 words given to the Democratic convention last night in behalf of President Roosevelt by Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, follows:

"I and other close friends of the president have long known that he has no wish to be a candidate again. We know, too, that in no way whatsoever has he exerted any influence in the selection of delegates, or upon the opinions of, delegates to this convention.

"Tonight, at the specific request and authorization of the president, I am making this simple fact clear to this convention.

"The president has never had, and has not today, any desire or purpose to continue in the office of president, to be a candidate for that office, or to be nominated by the convention for that office.

"He wishes in all earnestness and sincerity to make it clear that all of the delegates to this convention are free to vote for any candidate.

"That is the message I bear to you from the president of the United States."

Probe Mystery Blast Which Injured Mansfield Housewife

A mysterious explosion which injured a Mansfield woman and shook homes in the Mason avenue vicinity was being investigated today by police.

The blast was set off while Mrs. Walter H. Fensch, 199 Mason avenue, was burning waste paper on a vacant lot near her home. Mrs. Fensch was stunned by the force of the blast and flying debris struck her on the arm.

Although the accident happened about 8 p. m. Monday it was not reported to police until last evening when Mrs. Fensch went to a physician for treatment and he suggested that it was a matter for police investigation.

Mrs. Fensch told police she had gathered up newspapers about the house and had taken them across the street to burn them. Charred papers and ashes were on the bonfire spot.

She lighted the papers and watched them until they blazed up. Just as she turned her head, she said, there was a terrific explosion which shook houses and brought residents running from a distance of four blocks.

Fensch, who was working in the basement of his home, ran to his wife, and found her partially stunned by the detonation. He told police that the explosion sounded like dynamite. Something struck Mrs. Fensch on the arm, leaving a large and painful bruise.

Her dress was covered with spots of a black, sticky substance, which police are having analyzed. Last night Mrs. Fensch began to get painful reactions from the accident on her arms and feet and went to a physician.

Fensch told police that he and a neighbor had searched the ground on which the explosion occurred, but that they had found no sign of anything that might have caused the explosion.

BUSINESS IN MARKED GAINS FOR 6 MONTHS

42 Per Cent Boost In Sales Tax Revenue Reported Over Figure For 1939.

ONLY TWO EXCEPTIONS

Building Valuations, Postal Receipts Skid But Other 'Barometers' Climb.

Headed by a 42 per cent increase in new automobile sales, Mansfield business, with two exceptions, showed marked gains during the first six months of 1940 over the corresponding period last year, the Chamber of Commerce monthly business review revealed today.

Gains during the past six months ranged from 3.8 per cent in mercantile employment to 42 per cent in automobile registrations, with only postal receipts and building valuations showing any decline.

Building valuations were off 46.2 per cent. Valuations so far this year total $801,481 as compared to $1,511,751 during the first half of 1939, the report disclosed. The $1,000,000 school program was included in last year's figures.

Postal receipts skidded 14 per cent, dropping from $203,546 in the first six months of last year to $184,570 for the same period this year.

A total of 614 more new automobiles were sold in Mansfield this year, new car sales totaling 1,909 as against 1,295 during the six-month period in 1939.

Prepaid county sales tax receipts, reliable barometer for indicating the business swing, showed a gain of 18.3 per cent, the first half year's receipts totaling $284,192. The total for the corresponding period last year was $241,677.

Carloadings were up 17.8 per cent, a total of $21,388 inbound and outbound cars either loaded or unloaded during the past six months as compared to a total of 18,164 last year.

Bank clearings, showed an increase in the money turnover, were up 12.9 per cent. Clearings this year totaled nearly $46,000,000 against $41,000,000 during the first half of 1939.

The Mansfield Rapid Transit company reported that it carried 1,055,359 paid passengers during the first half of this year as compared to 905,934 in the same period last year, a gain of 16.4 per cent.

Industrial employment was up 8.6 per cent and mercantile employment showed a gain of 3.8 per cent with a total of 11,300 persons on Mansfield payrolls at the end of June as compared to 10,850 last year at the same time.

A 13.8 per cent decrease in the county relief load was shown with 492 cases on the relief rolls at the end of six months against 505 cases at the same time last year.

MAPS ACTION

Mayor Takes Steps to 'Police' Roof Drainage Program.

Mayor W. J. Locke took steps today to put enforcement behind the roof water drainage problem on a two-way basis: he will ask city council to give him an enforcement agent and has asked WPA for a check-up project to see that all property owners are cooperating to keep storm waters from sanitary sewers.

The mayor has asked WPA to set up a second "white collar" project to handle the re-check of the roof drainage. He said today that the recent survey made in the city by WPA would be useless unless there was a follow up and enforcement of an existing city regulation.

Locke said he would then ask city council to permit the hiring of an enforcement agent, whose duty would be to see that property owners complied with the ordinance.

Roosevelt Campaign Directors Caught In Prairie Fire Sweep of Popular Rush to President's Banner; Sure of Acceptance.

BULLETIN

CHICAGO—(INS)—Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley today warned that any attempt on the part of New Dealers pushing the "draft Roosevelt" movement to steam roller other candidates out of the picture would not set right with the American people and would jeopardize the Democratic party in the November election.

By W. B. RAGSDALE

CHICAGO — (AP) — The clamor of "We want Roosevelt now" swept a third term draft movement forward today in a boisterous reply from Democratic delegates to President Roosevelt's message that he had "no wish to be a candidate."

So rapid was its prairie fire sweep that directors of the campaign to enlist Mr. Roosevelt for another term predicted the national convention would wrap up the nomination for him before tonight's session ends.

What the president would do then remained to be seen. But all the chief New Deal lieutenants on the scene predicted that he would accept.

Secretary of Commerce Hopkins said he had "feeling and assurance" that "when the president is nominated he will accept."

For 25 minutes, the delegates let loose a bedlam of shouting and marching last night when Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky mentioned the president's name during his speech accepting the permanent chairmanship of the convention.

And then, when he finally read the message from the White House for which the delegates had been fidgeting, they turned the big stadium into a 50-minute clamorous tumult.

"I and other close friends of the president have long known that he has no wish to be a candidate again," Barkley said.

"We know, too, that in no way whatsoever has he exerted any influence in the selection of delegates or upon the opinions of delegates to this convention.

"Tonight, at the specific request and authorization of the president, I am making this simple fact clear to this convention.

"The president has never had and has not today any desire or purpose to continue in the office of president, to be a candidate for that office, or to be nominated by the convention for that office.

"He wishes in all earnestness and sincerity to make it clear that all of the delegates to this convention are free to vote for any candidate."

All the pent-up emotions that had been held back through two days of routine and oratory burst forth as Barkley finished. The noise swelled into a rafter-shaking tumult.

"We want Roosevelt," the delegates yelled.

"The United States wants Roosevelt."

"Florida wants Roosevelt."

"Georgia wants Roosevelt."

"Illinois wants Roosevelt."

"New Jersey wants Roosevelt."

And so they went until it began to look as if the convention's regular procedure might be swept aside and the nomination thrust upon Mr. Roosevelt at once.

"Michigan casts 38 votes for Roosevelt" came the cry, over and over.

But Barkley, who after delivers-

PREDICTION: Willkie Says Roosevelt Will Be Nominated

(By Associated Press)

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col.—Wendell L. Willkie, predicting that President Roosevelt would receive and accept a third-term nomination, renewed today his declaration that he would rather run against the president than any other Democrat.

Willkie said that the chief executive was the best representative of the New Deal side of the coming campaign and that he would like to have a fight against him.

Willkie, sitting on a couch in his hotel apartment, listened by radio last night to Sen. Alben W. Barkley's talk accepting the chairmanship of the Democratic convention. He yawned several times, lay back occasionally on heavy green-striped pillows and thumbed through newspapers and a book.

When Barkley ended his talk with the statement that President Roosevelt "has never had and has not today any desire or purpose to continue in the office of president," Willkie dictated this comment to reporters.

"I'll make the same prediction I made the other night—that the president will be renominated on the first ballot and will accept the nomination."

Again when Barkley asserted that the Republicans had wanted "color" in their nominee and added that they picked a man who had been a Republican for only a short time, Willkie declared that the statement was "the most complimentary thing I have received since by nomination."

When Barkley mentioned the Republican candidate before saying that it was not his purpose to review the New Deal history, Willkie grinned and remarked:

"He gets me before history."

Barkley's address, Willkie said, was "all defensive but a reasonably good defensive talk."

Uncensored Story of German Rout of French Army Finally Told

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Back in America and free from censorship, Kenneth Downs, chief western front correspondent for International News Service, today writes the first chapter of a series revealing the real reasons for the collapse of France in the face of Germany's blitzkrieg.)

By KENNETH DOWNS
(INS Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—On the night of May 15 I was en route to Paris by refugee train. I was going back from the Meuse front to find out why all correspondents had been blindfolded and handcuffed—stopped from learning or telling anything about the tremendous events then shaping.

It took 18 hours to make this four-hour trip. There were continual air raids. Shattered rails had to be repaired. We were re-routed twice.

During the period between 8 p. m. and 10 p. m., while we were stopped for the 50th time, I stepped out of the jammed coach and lay down in a patch of clover. As I looked up into the starless night a cold chill passed over me. The ground seemed to vibrate. The air was suddenly filled with an ominous, far reaching, deep-voiced gabble; a vague and distant and sinister sound.

I didn't know what it meant, but my reporter's sixth sense told me it was disaster.

It was not until two days later that I learned it was a German barrage laid down not 25 miles back, in country we had traversed earlier that day. By its tremendous volume and nearness it signaled (though I couldn't believe the signals then) the collapse of the ninth French army—and, with that collapse, the fall of France. It was the break-through.

General Andre Corap's ninth army, at whose headquarters in Vervins I had been that afternoon, was finished—beaten by a very considerable and probably decisive extent by fifth columnists within its ranks. By fifth columnists, in this instance, I mean, not French traitors, but incredibly daring French spies who, disguised as junior officers and non-commissioned officers, had spread panic through every wavering, hard-pressed unit of the army.

As for France, even without the "cinquieme columnists," France had been traveling the road toward defeat since the second month of the war.

Why was the world not told of what was happening? Because of the French censorship—a paralyzing, sinister censorship which I have reason to believe contained its good share of Nazi agents and which contributed materially to France's defeat. It was a censorship which consistently deceived the French people as to the real state of affairs and in the end of doing it deceived the world.

This censorship hid the facts from France before the war ever started. It combined with German astuteness and patience to undermine French morale during the long months of the so-called "phony war."

And, when the real war started, it helped hide the devastating operations of Germany's amazingly potent army and efficient fifth columnists, from parachutists in the field to civilian agents in the very capital.

A day before that mighty, swiftly-advancing Nazi barrage had announced the doom of the ninth army, I had stood in a room which saw the end of a typical German fifth columnist—the kind of men who spread panic through the French forces everywhere in that vital sector and contributed incalculably to their collapse.

A captain of the intelligence service of the ninth motorized division of the adjoining second army, a crack Iron division which destroyed

SMARTNESS GONE AWRY

PLAIN stupidity is nowhere near as costly as misdirected smartness, which generally goes under the title of "smart Aleckness." Once in a while we encounter a player who strains every effort to perpetrate bright-seeming plays and bids, copying what he has seen some fine player do, but without realizing that he is doing it at the wrong time or in the wrong way. Usually those efforts prove a boomerang that crashes the thrower.

	♠ Q 10 5 ♥ A Q 7 4 ♦ J 2 ♣ 10 7 5 4
♠ A 9 ♥ 10 9 8 ♦ Q 10 9 6 ♣ 4 3 ♣ Q 8	N. W. E. S.	♠ K 8 7 4 2 ♥ K 5 2 ♦ K 7 ♣ 9 6 2

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	1 ♦	1 ♥	Pass
1 NT	Pass	3 NT

East "played smart" even during the bidding by passing when he should have bid 1-Spade, reckoning that he might thus trap the opponents into a contract they couldn't make, and he stayed "smart" by not doubling the contract.

South was a really keen player, Lee Hazen, runner-up in the last national individual masters' championship and just as good a rubber player. He saw that the defenders could set him. They actually could get five tricks in diamonds, two in spades and one in hearts. But he hoped for the best, including help from East, and got it.

He let two diamond tricks go by and took third, on which East discarded the heart 2. Then he led a heart, played the Q and, just as East was about to make the "bright" play of the 5, blanking his K, West reached for the trick, expecting the K to be played. Seeing this, Mr. Hazen then laid down the heart A, dropping the K. On the club 10 then East false-carded the 9. Mr. Hazen read that as a false-card and abandoned his plan to finesse. His K, followed by the A, dropped the Q. The heart J, club J, club 3 to the 7 and heart 7 produced his ninth trick, and he gave up two spades at the end.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

For an instant I did not understand Dicky's corollary comment upon his injunction to Lillian and me to take our time about unloading the weapons he had just taken from Jack Leslie's chauffeur. It seemed to me that instead of time being our greatest commodity at the moment, it was the one thing we must not waste.

I, of course, had no idea when the expected ambush of Leslie's men by my father's scheduled for a few miles down the road, would come. But it could not be very long now before its outcome—something of which I had no doubt, for my father's men far outnumbered the others, and the men masquerading as Mary and Noel were skilled combatants and I knew they would give a good account of themselves in any skirmish.

But when that victory should be won—and I was sure it would be a bloodless one because of the superiority of numbers on my father's side—and Leslie's gangsters began to realize that my father had tricked their leader and themselves into giving up Queen Olga's emeralds for impersonators only of Noel and Mary, whose possession Jack Leslie so avidly desired, they would lose no time in coming back to see what had happened to their leader. Then there would be no question of what would happen to us. Two women and one man, even if armed, would have no chance against Leslie's men.

Part of the Plan.

The next second I was scoring myself for stupidity. We would not be helpless. This action of Dicky's had been planned with Harry Underwood. Our men would be back, plenty of them, as soon or before the others.

Then Dicky spoke.

"All set?" he asked.

"Everything taken care of," I returned in guttural tones.

"Good! Now, one of you keep watch in your corner, while the other helps me tie up this baby."

I went to his side, being careful to drag my feet and legs through the underbrush, so as to keep them concealed, mindful once more of Mrs. Ticer's admonition that we were foolproof except for our feet and legs, which would surely give our femininity away if anyone had a look at them. I left Lillian gazing with unwinking eyes and unmoved countenance at Jack Leslie's contorted face, while she kept her pistol level with his eyes, and was not surprised when Dicky told me to level mine at the chauffeur.

"How about it?" he asked when I had obeyed him. "Are you a two-gun man?"

I guessed what he wanted and answered accordingly.

"Don't make no difference to me," I said, sacrificing syntax to art. "I kin shoot jest as well with one hand as another.

"Good!" Dicky retorted. "Keep that toy leveled on this baby, and reach out and take my gun in your other hand. And don't hesitate to use either of them if this lad makes the slightest false move while I'm tying him up."

Euonymus Scale.

Euonymus scale not only attacks eunoymus plants but also bittersweet pachysandra and lilacs. Yellow areas of the leaves are usually indications that Euonymus scale is present on the undersides.

As shown in the accompanying Garden-Graph, the male of the Euonymus scale can be distinguished easily on a leaf because it is slender, ridged, and white in color. The females are brownish oyster-shell-shaped scales.

These scale insects can be controlled by a contact insecticide. When recently hatched, the young of the Euonymus scale are easily destroyed. The full-grown scales are must more resistant. The young hatch during July, and a spray of nicotine sulphate and soap should be used for their control.

CHAPTER XXIX

Five or six CCC boys and some other men hovered around Rosemary as if each were about to ask for this dance but a trifle shy of the New York girl, when a little woman walked up with a huge man in tow. The little woman was indeed small. She could not have weighed a hundred pounds, and she wasn't much taller than Rosemary's eyes. She appeared to be 25 or 30 years of age, and was decidedly plain of face. Her dress could be complimented only by calling it "practical." Her arms were scrawny and her hands showed signs of constant physical work. But she had spirit.

"Ain't this Miss Rosemary, ma'am?" the little woman began, in open friendly manner. "We ain't met, but I declare if I ain't heard a deal about you, and you turn up to be prettier'n sweeter than what they all say! Welcome to our dance, ma'am!"

She extended a hand and shook Rosemary's with positive pumping motions. Rosemary smiled and thanked her.

"You are all so hospitable."

"It's a downright pleasure, ma'am. Now Miss Rosemary, I have brought Willis over here and I'm asking ma'am if he c'n dance with you? Willis is m'husband and he don't hardly ever see no city girls or anybody like you, and he'd jump over th' sawmill before he'd get up nerve to ask you hisself—WHAH!"

Poor Willis, who weighed at least two and a half times as much as his wife, had on a tieless woolen shirt and corduroy trousers, and looked like somebody's big brother. He was shaved so cleanly that his skin was red. He stood there beaming down at his wife and then at Rosemary.

"Why certainly, Mr.——Willis!" Rosemary squelched the urge to laugh and gave him her nicest smile. "Willis is the name, you say?"

"His first name. Our name is Whitlaw, and I'm Leaura Whitlaw, and me and Willis is pleased to meetche, Miss Rosemary. Now Willis, you take holt of her!"

Willis took "holt." He knew how, and although Rosemary felt him tremble a little at first, and herself suffered pangs of fear lest the huge fellow mash her feet, they moved off with complete rhythm and ease. In common with many big people, Willis danced very well.

He did not say one word throughout the dance, and his tiny Leaura thanked Rosemary for him. But pleasure was obvious in his embarrassed smile and Rosemary complimented him heartily. When he edged away from her, Leaura took Rosemary by the arm.

"Come let me make you acquainted with all the people, ma'am. They're achin' to see how you act."

It was honest, but alarming. Aching to see how you act!

Rosemary swallowed, but found the ordeal pleasant after all. Most of the people were a little shy of her, so she did her best to put them at ease.

The CCC commander and his wife headed a little group of city folk from Phoenix who were especially cordial to her. And yet, she told herself honestly, she didn't like them any better than she liked the others. She drifted on around the big halls with Leaura guiding her. Inspecting the buildings, then, the two walked out on the wide front porch. Leaura talking constantly. Nobody else was there, but somebody was approaching in the darkness. As they neared the end of the porch a big man jumped upon it, as if hurrying.

In the light he suddenly paused.

"Anh!" he exclaimed, in pleased discovery. "It's th' New York gal!"

All at once Rosemary recognized him! Here was Ward Bascom, the lumberjack who had tried to kiss her in her store. Moreover, he exuded a miserable smell of alcohol.

"You the high and mighty one that got me shot, missy, so now I'm going to dance with you and git my revenge, hanh?" He laughed in anticipation, and reached as if to take her arm again.

Mrs. Leaura Whitlaw almost had to stand on tiptoe to do it, but she slapped Mr. Bascom so hard that the very noise of it was startling.

"You git out of our way, Ward Bascom, and be quick about it! And don't you dare make no passes at Miss Rosemary or I'll cram my whole fist down yore dirty throat, you hear me?"

Tiny Leaura stamped at him, and he stepped back off of the porch in full retreat. He didn't utter another word. He never even mumbled or growled at them.

"That there's nothing but Ward Bascom, ma'am—don't pay him no mind—just smack him down if he so much as looks at you. We all don't take him serious. Now you take them buildings acrosst there, they are dormitories where the CCC boys sleep and my Willis hauled every stitch of logs and lumber in 'em from the mill, he did!"

She concluded with a note of obvious pride, and Rosemary, who had barely had time to take a deep breath, was hard put to say a word of appreciation. This garrulous Mrs. Whitlaw, this tiny little mountain woman whose husband might have done mayhem on the drunken boor, did not even think of calling her husband or any other help. She had struck a man and missed hardly a word of her lecture about the CCC camp.

Twice now Rosemary had had that object lesson. Chance had made the same man her antagonist, but two very different western women had casually showed her how to take care of herself, demonstrating self-reliance to a city girl who had always felt afraid to step out of a known routine.

She glanced down now at Mrs Whitlaw's shoes. They were plain black, low heels, rather worn. And she was one of those who had on cotton stockings. Tiny Leaura Whitlaw, who probably never heard of Sir Walter Raleigh.

Rosemary suddenly wanted to cry.

A big bold warrior rode up in an automobile, stared out a moment, then left his car and formally "attacked" the new stockade there in front of Rosemary's Trading Post.

"Wah wah wah wah!" he cried, like a true Indian, dancing around the blockhouse tower.

Rosemary, standing with Sue on her front porch, watched in high amusement, and the warrior came up to them and lifted his hat. He was a rotund and exceedingly genial man in neat business dress.

"My name's T. C. Bobbitt, ma'am," he said. "One of you is Miss Taylor, I guess. I sell bookkeeping systems and office supplies. Dr. Montgomery said you wanted me to call."

"Oh. Oh yes, Mr. Bobbitt. This is Miss McKee. But you did startle us, yodeling that way!"

He smiled. "Wasn't yodeling. Just admiring your new gasoline station. Cleverest thing I've seen. Ought to boost trade."

"We hope so. Dr. Montgomery designed it. He's expecting you." She nodded toward the door.

"Thanks." He bowed and went inside.

Monty was at the little table desk in the rear. Both men accepted her tacit admission that Monty was to speak for Rosemary. She came to them presently and indicated as much, although in truth Monty had no official standing with her store. He had just slipped into a habit of doing her business thinking, making a kind of hobby of it between the field trips he made to archaeological ruins and cliff dwellings. Of late, he hadn't made so many field trips, he had finally agreed that Rosemary could pay him a little to set up the firm's books and reorganize it, so that it could be sold in correct and formal style.

TELLS OF CROP LOAN PROGRAM

Richland Farmers Can Get Funds on Wheat Through Crop Insurance.

Richland county farmers can get federal commodity loans on wheat acquired through crop insurance indemnities anytime before next Jan. 1, G. A. Mentzer, county AAA committeeman in charge of crop loans, said today.

Mentzer said some farmers who are receiving indemnities covering losses on their 1940 crop have been under the impression that they must obtain commodity loans immediately to utilize the privilege of borrowing on wheat purchased with the proceeds of indemnities.

Loans are available in amounts up to 75c a bushel, one cent higher than last year. Loans were made last year on approximately 7,500 bushels of wheat in the county.

Any wheat described as "acceptable" by the Commodity Credit corporation and acquired with the proceeds of a crop insurance payment is eligible for a loan without regard to origin, previous ownership, or location if the grain is in approved storage, Mentzer said.

Defense Commission Works Fast In Placing Orders

RECORD MADE MARSHALLING U. S. STRENGTH

President Praises Progress In Mightiest Peace-Time Drive of History.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Working at a $40,000,000-a-day clip, the national defense commission has placed army and navy orders totalling $1,661,891,494 in the last 40 days.

The commission likewise reported far-flung progress in marshalling the nation's material resources, industrial facilities and manufacturing manpower for the mightiest peacetime defense undertaking in United States history.

President Roosevelt, releasing the first detailed reports of the commission's accomplishments to date, praised the record compiled and told his press conference yesterday that the progress was extremely good.

Mr. Roosevelt said he considered the reports of the seven commission members of greater importance than news from the Democratic national convention. Asked why, he countered:

Wouldn't you put the safety of the country ahead of anybody's convention?

The reports, covering the six weeks the commission has been functioning, gave the following broad summary of the country's preparedness efforts:

Materials — Substantial supplies of strategic and critical raw materials being acquired. Completion of plans expected in next few weeks for manufacture of enough synthetic rubber to meet most emergency needs.

Production — $1,390,575,405 in navy contracts and $271,316,089 in army contracts placed.

Labor supply—Needs of private industry for skilled and other labor being met. Between 30,000 and 40,000 enrolees receiving training for defense industry jobs.

Price stabilization — Numerous proposals for price regulation being studied to prevent adverse effects on nation's price structure.

Agriculture—Work going forward on problem of new defense factory locations, with aim of utilizing surplus labor in rural areas. Negotiations in process to have funds advanced to other nations for future deliveries of strategic materials spent here for agricultural commodities. Broad program in preparation to promote increased domestic use of farm surpluses.

Consumer protection — Steps taken to protect public from unjustifiable increases in consumer goods prices.

Transportation—"Concrete recommendations have already been drawn up for acquisition of very substantial numbers of special rolling stocks for handling troops and their equipment."

Demonstration In Swimming and Life Saving on Tonight

Demonstrations in various phases of water safety will be given tonight at the annual Red Cross Water carnival at Casino pool, North Lake park.

The carnival is a public demonstration of the work that is done throughout the summer by Red Cross instructors. Farnum Coffin, director of the Water Safety program and Robert Barrett, water safety instructor, are in charge of tonight's program. The show gets under way at 7:45 p. m.

There will be relay races by members of the senior swimming team and formation swimming by members of water classes. Children in the beginners' classes will show the progressive methods in teaching swimming.

The water safety program continues through Sept 1 this year, and anyone desiring to learn to swim or learn first aid and rescue work, may join classes at any time.

Although she doesn't recommend it, a certain south-end woman discovered a novel way of getting a recipe for huckleberry pie last week. After getting the ingredients for the delicacy together, she searched in vain for her recipe but couldn't find it. So she decided to phone a friend for one. When she lifted the receiver she found that the other parties on the line were holding a conversation. A little later she repeated the procedure with no better ruck than the first time. Again she went to the phone but got the same result. Finally, in disgust, she said into the mouthpiece, "Do either of you ladies happen to have a good recipe for huckleberry pie?" After they had stopped laughing, one of them obliged. The woman said the pie was delicious but now she doesn't know who to thank.

When Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Chandler, 565 East Townview circle, attended their first big league ball game in Cleveland recently, they were one up on the small boy who crawls under the circus tent. Because they walked right in the main entrance to the reserved seat section without being stopped. They hadn't purchased tickets, but there was no one at the gate. After they got in they sighted a policeman and asked him where they could buy reserved seat tickets. He asked them how them got in without tickets and they told him they had "just walked in." "Well, now that you are in, just stay in," he said as he helped them find seats that obviously weren't taken.

THANKS, PAL

Shot In Leg Appreciated by Reformed Thug.

KANSAS CITY —(AP)— Alfred Landis, released from jail, hobbled across the street to police headquarters and grasped the hand of Henry Schwark, a young patrolman.

"Thanks," he said, "for putting me straight. No telling what I'd have gone on to—. I'm going home and get a job."

Just a year ago a slug from Schwark's gun crippled Landis, who was fleeing from a house burglary.

POLICE TICKETS COST HIM $11.30

Autoist Fined for Ignoring 8 Traffic Citations.

It cost L. W. Hess, Sturges avenue, $11.30 for eight traffic tickets when he appeared before Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch yesterday.

Hess ignored tickets given for parking infractions, police said, and also ignored a warrant issued for him to appear in court yesterday morning. Detectives Lee Remy and Oscar Krupp arrested him yesterday afternoon.

He was taken before Judge Kalbfleisch who fined him $5 and costs which totaled $11.30.

COOL WEATHER

Convention City Gives Dems Comfortable Stay.

CHICAGO — (NS) — A bright sun bathed the Democratic convention city of Chicago today, and continuing cool temperatures promised another day of comfort for the delegates. But the weatherman said thunderstorms may come late in the day. Temperatures this morning ranged in the middle 60's, with high of about 75 degrees predicted for late afternoon.

ASHLAND OK'S 'SANDBAG' RATE

Approves New Schedule for Gas Rates, Calling For Boost In Last 2 Years.

ASHLAND—By a vote of three to two, Ashland city council today had passed a new five-year gas rate ordinance, calling for a "sandbag" increase in rates after the ordinance has been in effect three years.

The increase will average about two and a half cents per month per consumer on the basis of average consumption of 5,000 cubic feet per month.

The new rate schedule, beginning the fourth year, calls for a change of 20 cents for the first 100 cubic feet for the first 500 cubic feet, six per cent per 100 for the next 1,500, five and half cents per 100 for the next 3,000, and five cents per 100 for all over 5,000 cubic feet.

Present rates are 20 cents per 100 for the first 500 cubic feet, five and a half cents per 100 for the next 4,500, and five cents per 100 for all over 5,000 cubic feet. This schedule will hold for the next three years.

Submitted to council by the Ohio Fuel Gas company, the proposal drew the criticism of Councilmen J. E. Walz and Jack B. Lentz who voted against adoption of the new schedule.

"About every five years the gas company presents us with a request for an increased rate, and Ashland is already paying more than most cities of its size," Lentz said.

Walz pointed out that the rates have been increased three times, and added that "it's getting to be a habit."

Mayor Howard S. Lutz said he didn't think it was good business to oppose the increase, because it would cost several thousand dollars to fight the gas company in court.

DISTRICT GROWS

Population Increased in Ohio Third Congress Area.

DAYTON — (NS) — The third Ohio congressional district, comprised of Montgomery, Butler and Preble counties, has a population of 439,919 as compared to 410,020 in 1930, according to preliminary census figures released today.

The seventh district, comprised of Champaign, Clark, Clinton, Fayette, Greene, Logan, Madison, Union and Warren counties, jumped from 285,374 in 1930 to 302,199 this year.

EXAMINE SHIPS

Japanese Stop Nine Vessels, One American.

TOKYO — (NS) — Japanese warships today stopped and examined nine ships, including an American vessel, which were steaming to safety from an artillery duel between the naval craft and Chinese forts at Dhenhai, according to a report from Domei, official Japanese news agency.

One of the nine vessels, a British ship, was detained, Domei reported.

HOLD SUSPECT IN SWINDLING OF SHELBY FUNERAL DIRECTOR

An accused forger was held today by New York police on a charge of swindling Earl Barkdull, Shelby funeral director, out of $85 in a "confidence" racket.

Barkdull said the New Yorker, who was known to him as "Mr. Swartz," obtained the money about a month ago by calling Barkdull by long distance telephone from New York to tell him he needed $75 to have his mother's body shipped back to Shelby for burial. The caller claimed to know Barkdull.

Since the request was not an unusual one, Barkdull said he sent the money by wire with instructions to ship the body to arrive in Shelby the next day. When the body failed to arrive and Barkdull heard nothing from the New York man, he notified police in New York.

The additional $10 Barkdull lost was for two telephone calls charged to the funeral director.

Barkdull said the forger told him his mother formerly lived in Shelby and had asked to be buried there. He at first asked Barkdull to drive to New York for the body, but the funeral director advised against that, explaining that it would be cheaper to ship it by train. Then the alleged son asked for the "loan" to pay shipping charges, explaining that he would pay it back when he settled with Barkdull for the funeral expenses.

"Undertakers often receive requests like that, and I thought I was doing the man a good turn by sending him the money, since he seemed to be all broken up over his mother's death," Barkdull said.

FIRE DESTROYS INSTITUTION'S WOODEN ANNEX

Smoke Overcomes Two Firemen Taken to Hospital In Serious Condition.

(By Associated Press)

TOLEDO—Rescued without injury from a flaming wing of 56-year-old St. Vincent's Catholic hospital, 142 patients were cared for today in other parts of the institution.

Fire was discovered in the wooden annex shortly before last midnight and 21 fire companies fought the blaze more than an hour before bringing it under control.

Working swiftly and heroically with only water-soaked, anaesthetic masks as protection against smoke, nurses, doctors and other members of the hospital staff moved the patients from the wing as firemen played streams of water into its rooms.

The only casualties were among the fire-fighters—Hugh Gallagher and Harry Barnes, who were overcome by smoke and taken in serious condition to another hospital.

Attendants at St. Vincent said only a few patients were affected by smoke and some became hysterical, but none was hurt.

District Fire Chief James Conway estimated damage at $35,000 and blamed defective wiring for the blaze which started between the third floor and the roof.

Sister Conwine discovered the blaze after it had made considerable headway, but firemen were able to confine it to the one wing.

Among those rescued were 24 maternity patients, one of whom had given birth several hours earlier. Infants were housed in another section of the institution.

Sister Papineau, mother superior, said valuable X-ray equipment was destroyed.

FUNERAL SET

Rites For Mrs. Housman to Be Held at Ontario.

ONTARIO — Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Newhouse Housman, 67, who died Tuesday morning at the General hospital will be held at 1:30 p. m. Thursday at her home with Rev. E. H. Thompson of the Ontario Community church officiating. Burial will be in Memorial Park.

Mrs. Housman was born Feb. 13, 1873 near Delaware in Delaware county, and has been a resident of this county for the past 20 years. She was a member of the Ontario Community church. Her husband, William Alvin Housman, died four years ago.

Survivors include a brother, M. A. Newhouse, Marysville; a stepdaughter, Mrs. F. R. Mitchel, Ontario, and a number of nieces and nephews. Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home until Thursday morning.

The George Raft "settlement" figures, printed elsewhere, had nothing to do with the facts. The lowdown is this: Mrs. Raft offered to go through with the divorce if the screen star would give her $50,000 — $20,000 immediately, $20,000 in six months, and $10,000 at the end of a year. Raft refused the offer because he has been paying his wife 10 per cent of his salary (this now amounts to about $18,000 a year) since they parted years ago. . . . Buster Crabbe, the swimming champ, and Eleanor McAndrews, an Aquabelle, have softening of the hearteries.

Jimmy Roosevelt, in town for his motion picture company, is talent scouting all over the bistros. . . . Diosa Costello, the Latin tamale who went on a vacation to Puerto Rico, just won't come back, and those concerned are as mystified as they're worried. She's canceled her Loews' State booking, and the Hurricane management, which has her slated for the 25th, isn't quite sure whether she'll show or not. The reason why she's so crazy about Puerto Rico isn't really so mysterious: she's fallen in love with a local fellow!

Lowdown on the Nancy Kelly-Sandy Cummings break-up is this: They were in love, but he took her on an automobile ride one day, headed the car toward Las Vegas and tried to talk the starlet into eloping then and there. When she said she didn't think they were "ready" to marry, they quarreled and that one ride ended the whole thing. Writer Edmund O'Brien.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It's all right, in case the folks back in Omaha and Grand Island, Neb., are wondering. Henry Fonda still is Henry Fonda, after four years and 20-odd pictures in a town that's turned older heads than Hank's.

Take the guy and his family, for instance. Fonda is an old-style family man. He likes to quit work on time and go home. If he's not home by 6:30 the youngsters are in bed, and Papa Fonda feels cheated. He and Fritz Lang, making "The Return of Frank James," haven't been able to see eye to eye on quitting times lately. There's been overtime. Papa Fonda knows about schedules, and he's reasonable, but a fella has to see his family once in a while, doesn't he? There were locations seven weeks of 'em during which he saw the family just twice.

Something had to be done. The Fondas broke precedent. For the first time, Mrs. Fonda visited the set and brought the children Frances Brokaw, 8, and Jayne Seymour Fonda, 2. Peter, whose age is still counted in weeks, couldn't join the party but Papa Fonda had a good visit with the others.

Even in a dress suit Henry Fonda looks like the perennial rustic. He's the mountain boy of "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" and the farmer boy of "The Farmer Takes a Wife" and he's Tom Joad of "The Grapes of Wrath" and he's "Young Mr. Lincoln." And no amount of polish covers up the genuine earthiness of the Fonda make-up. He can have a swell time in a night spot and still looks like a lad who'll be up early milking the cows.

There's the old story that Fonda occasionally visits four-bit hop houses and spends a night with the down-and-outers to remind himself that life is not all beer and skittles. The Fonda life before Hollywood wasn't moonlight and roses. After he got the stage yen from three years in the Omaha community theater, and went to New York, he had his share of pavement-pounding and hunger. "A nickle's worth of rice swells up into a mighty filling dish," he can tell you. He's had jobs as iceman, telephone trouble-shooter, garage mechanic, window-dresser and for painful periods no jobs at all. His favorite scent, even today is the smell of a bakery in operation.

Shortly after he came to town he had an interview with a woman magazine writer who wanted to do a story on "Henry Fonda's Love Life." Fonda naturally paled and refused to talk. The story came out, quoting Fonda on his ex-wife, Margaret Sullavan. That's what made him an interview-dodger for years. Lately he has loosened up, but he still is the despair of publicity men except that he's likeable and cooperative and is his own best "story."

Walter Wanger brought him out here first. Fonda told Wanger he didn't like the idea and wanted to go back, and Wanger thought he wanted more than he was offered. Fonda couldn't talk when Wanger offered $1,000 a week. He's still

Mansfield Trips Mudhens, 9-5; Hermans Triumph Again

Jenkins Gets Test

Little Texan Meets Henry Armstrong at Polo Grounds Tonight.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — (AP) — Lew Jenkins, the hollow-eyed little Texan with the murderous punch, receives his great testing tonight when he fights Henry Armstrong, the welterweight champion, at the Polo Grounds.

It is just a year since Jenkins, looking none too well fed, made his first appearance in New York. An unbroken string of triumphs behinds him and bulwarked by many a $2 steak, he enters the ring tonight as the lightweight champion of the world.

* * *

His rise has been meteoric, but he has this one more mountain to cross before the present generation of experts says "Okay, Lew, you're the best we've seen," and before the old timers admit him to their hall of memories along with Joe Gans and Benny Leonard.

LEW JENKINS

If Jenkins does beat the bull-chested Armstrong tonight, then he's really good. For Armstrong, even though he might be a year or so past his very best, still is an awful lot of fighting man. A year ago (remember) we were calling him so many kinds of great fighter that there hardly were enough adjectives to go around.

It should be a great bout tonight, and a man could make himself a lot of money if he knew the winner for sure. Personally, Armstrong looks the better bet, and the bookmakers still have him a substantial favorite. It's difficult to picture a skinny, rawboned boy like Jenkins absorbing Henry's body punishment for 12 rounds. Still, the Texan has that punch, and Armstrong never has been hard to hit.

* * *

Armstrong will have a few pounds weight advantage, although not enough to really matter. The title of neither is at stake. Without risking more than a few lumps, each of them is assured of a very handsome purse, for Promoter Mike Jacobs expects the gate to total around $160,000, granted clear weather.

Grid Star In Softball Togs

Here is Jimmy Langhurst, Ohio State university football star and captain-elect of the 1940 team, at bat during the Sons of Herman-Willard Elks softball contest at Liberty park yesterday. Langhurst handled the first base duties for the Willard team which suffered a 14 to 3 beating from the Hermans. Jimmy secured one of the Elks' six hits.

THE News-Journal Class "A" golf league sported a new first place team today following the Long Bar's spectacular 4 to 1 victory over the Yuncker Brothers foursome last night at Possum Run.

Taking a 2 to 1 lacing at the hands of the Barnes & Schmid Tires, the Sloan's Drugs club which led the league last week dropped to third place behind the Richland Printing outfit.

The Long Barmen took three out of four matches scheduled with the Yuncker team to soar into top position. John Carr, Oscar Frantz and Harry Fay were the Long Bar winners, while Carl Kushin, No. 1 man on the Bar team, dropped his match to Al Hager, who is in the No. 1 spot for Yunckers.

Low-scoring honors last night were copped by Rollie Rachel of the Oak's club who registered a par-shattering 35 on the inside nine. He defeated Lawrence Doley of the Mansfield Athletic Supply, who had a 40.

Rachel was hard pressed by six other members of the loop who managed 36's during last night's session. They were Pete Linster, Gene Zediker, Carl Wiseman, Al Hager, Al Kushin and Steve Stirtzinger.

* * *

Other results in last night's competition were Richland Printing 4, Greystone Nite club 1, Oak's club 3, and Mansfield Athletic Supply 2.

Cram Counts Moritz Out

Hurler Declared Ineligible to Play In Club League.

William Moritz of the W. B. Union club in the Y. M. C. A. Club league, one of the outstanding hurlers of the loop, was declared ineligible by Donald D. Cram, secretary of the Softball Commission, today.

His ineligibility holds only in the Club league, Cram said, and does not affect his eligibility to hurl for the All-State Freights in the Independent league.

* * *

Moritz, he explained, opened the season with the All-State Freight team in the Independent league and therefore forfeited all rights to play in any other league. As a result of the findings the defeat of the Schoolmasters at the hands of the W. B. Union will be reversed. The Schoolmasters will be credited with a win and the W. B. Union with a loss.

Laurila Halts Tiffin; Softball Club Wins 12th

Carver, Geiger Hurl Unbeaten Combine to 14-3 Win Over Willard Elks.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THE CHANCES of the unbeaten Sons of Herman softball team suffering defeat is becoming more remote every day.

Manager Frank Beeber's touted combine registered its 12th consecutive victory by walloping the Willard Elks, 14 to 3, at Liberty park yesterday and the 650 fans who witnessed the contest are wondering today if there is a team in the state that can beat the Hermans.

Willard used two southpaws in an effort to stop the Hermans, but it was the same old story—too much power at the plate.

With Harry Ross and Ed Henrich pacing the 15-hit attack, the Hermans jumped into the lead in the early innings and piled up a commanding advantage before the invaders could do anything about to stop it.

Freddie Carver started on the hill for the Hermans and after the contest developed into a one-sided affray, Manager Beeber sent Aid Geiger in to finish the tussle. It was Carver's fifth win of the year.

Willard hit both hurlers hard, but the sensational fielding of the Herman infield stopped practically every rally.

The Hermans tallied twice in the initial frame, scored three runs in the second, added two in the third, three in the fifth, one in the sixth and climaxed the scoring with three in the seventh.

Meanwhile, the Elks managed to dent the plate once in the fourth and twice in the ninth. The visitors secured a total of six hits off the combined pitching of Carver and Geiger.

Ross collected a double and three singles in five official trips to the plate. Henrich added a double and two singles to the attack. George Hummel shared a portion of the hitting spotlight with a home run.

Stewart, Willard moundsman, led the Elks' six-hit attack with a triple, while Lawson added a double to the total.

* * *

Jimmy Langhurst, Ohio State university football star and captain-elect of the 1940 gridiron team, turned in a creditable performance at first base for the Willard team. He secured one of the club's hits in the ninth inning.

Yank Pitcher Hurls Shutout

AKRON — (AP) — Mel Queen's two-hit, 3-to-0 shutout of Canton paced the Akron Yankees to a four and a half game lead in the Mid-Atlantic league last night.

* * *

Queen faced only 28 batters and allowed singles in the second and eighth innings. The Yanks made only five hits off Rudd.

* * *

Portsmouth stretched its victory string to five with a 5-to-0 shutout of the Charleston Senators. It was the third win in five days for George Turbeville, who allowed five hits. The second game of a scheduled twin bill was rained out.

The six-hit hurling of Dykes Potter gave Dayton a 4-to-1 win over Youngstown.

Harry Seigbert Leads Braves In Hitting by Getting a Homer and a Double.

ABOUT the only difference between the Mansfield Braves and the Cleveland Indians yesterday was that the Braves won and the Indians didn't.

Both teams ran into pitcher trouble, the Braves using three and the Indians five. But the Mansfielders came out on top as the Braves romped over the Tiffin Mud Hens, 9 to 5, at Tiffin last night.

* * *

Benten started on the mound for the Braves, then Manager Dewey Stover tried Steaman and George Laurila, with Laurila getting credit for the win.

Tonight at the Fairground the Braves' management expects one of the largest crowds ever to attend a Braves' contest on their home ground.

The Braves will meet Tiffin before an "American Legion" night gathering, with the Mansfield American Legion Junior ball club meeting the Shelby American Legion team in a curtain raiser, starting at 7 p. m.

Ralph Hughes is general chairman of the affair and is assisted by Chuck Harris and Dewey Durant, who manages the Junior ball club.

Harry Seigbert, Braves' first-sacker, walked off with the hitting honors in the contest last night. Out of three trips to the batter's box, the youthful Chicagoan managed a homer and a double.

Herb Woodien got a double and a single out of four trips and Missler got a double and single out of five journeys to the plate.

The Mansfielders trailed the Mud Hens by one run until the fifth frame when they pushed over two markers, then added two in the sixth. Tiffin added two in the seventh and one in the eighth to tie up the game.

But in the ninth inning, the Braves staged a five-run rally that put the clinch on the game. Tiffin tried to come back in their half of the ninth but could only tally one run.

* * *

Boskey, Tiffin hurler who was relieved by Snow, was credited with the loss.

'Stub' Winebrenner Hurls Three Hitter

TINKEY LUMBERS, led by the brilliant three-hit hurling of 'Stub" Winebrenner, handed the Shelby Wall Street Lumbers a 20 to 0 shellacking at Shelby last night.

* * *

Winebrenner fanned 12 of the Shelbymen and added to his hitting record by pounding out a double and a single. The Tinkey hurler also made three of the Lumbers 20 runs.

* * *

The Tinkeys scored three runs in the first inning, four in the second, six in the third, four in the fourth, and three in the fifth. The remainder of the game Ackerman, Shelby hurler held them scoreless.

Sandel, Tinkey third baseman, and Currey, Tinkey shortstop, led the hitters with a circuit smash each. Ackerman allowed five bases and balls.

Giants Cop Fifth Straight Win In Knot-Hole League

WITH Marfia hurling two-hit ball, the Giants had little trouble in scoring their fifth straight victory in the Friendly House Knot-Hole league when they met the Cubs yesterday at the Fairground.

* * *

The final score was Giants 11, Cubs 1. Marfia struck out six Cubs batters, while his team pounded out five hits and took advantage of Pace's wild throws. The Cub hurler walked four men.

* * *

Robertson, Giant third-sacker led the hitters with two hits out of two trips to the batter's box, one of them a double. Thodosoff, Giant first baseman, managed two hits out of three trips to the plate.

In the other game in the league yesterday, the Pirates outpointed the Yankees, 8 to 5. Frantz was on the mound for the winning Pirates, while Miller toed the rubber for the losers.

Cleveland Indians Suffer Defeat

decline while the Yanks have reduced a 10-game deficit to 5½ games in the past three weeks.

* * *

Bob Feller, who has bested the Yanks three times in four starts, was nominated for mound duty and sought his 15th victory. Monte Pearson, beaten twice by the Tribe, opposed him.

A seven-run uprising in the sixth inning wiped out Cleveland's 7 to 2 lead and the Washington Senators coasted to an 11 to 8 victory yesterday to sweep their series.

Five pitchers failed to stem the second-division Nats' attack, yielding a total of six bases on balls and 12 hits. The Indians collected a like number of blows off three Senator hurlers.

Harry Eisenstat, who hadn't worked a game since May 27, started for Cleveland but was replaced by Joe Dobson after the Nats scored a run in each of the first and second innings.

Dobson walked three batters in order at the start of the sixth, fanned the next man up and then allowed a single which scored two runs. Johnny Allen took over and walked another Senator, filling the bases a second time. Two singles produced three more runs. Ken Keltner threw wild past Catcher Rollie Hemsley to let in another man after fielding a grounder, and the seventh run was made on an infield out.

* * *

Allen, charged with the defeat, was followed on the mound by Johnny Humphries who allowed three safe blows, and Bill Zuber, who gave up another.

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

HEROES — Johnny Rigney, White Sox, who himself made half as many hits as the six he allowed the Yanks; Phil Cavarretta, Cubs, whose fielding and hitting beat the Giants; Enos Slaughter who hit two homers as Cardinals beat Bees.

GOATS—Tex Carleton and Toots Presnell, Dodgers, who failed to hold three run lead against Pirates; Bill Posedel who threw three home run balls as Cards beat Bees.

Redleg Pilot Well Pleased

McKechnie Goes 'Round With Cat and Canary Look.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Tonight's game and one more make it midseason for the Cincinnati Reds and the rest of the National league and the same Reds are 3½ games to the good.

* * *

Manager Bill McKechnie of the Reds is going around with the cat-&-canary look on his otherwise uncommunicative face, for his pitchers are finishing near to half as many games as they start.

* * *

That record is something in these days of jerking the pitcher practically in the middle of a heave.

More than one Cincinnati batter has had the sensation of facing two pitchers in one trip to the plate, but that doesn't happen to any opposition hitter.

Of the Reds' 75 games to date, at least 35 are complete games—win or lose—for the Cincinnati pitchers. Paul Derringer has an even dozen and Bucky Walters 11 to account for the bulk. Gene Thompson has contributed seven, and Jim Turner and Whitey Moore have divided the remainder.

Too many of these games have been one-run victories or losses, but McKechnie believes that self-help does a pitcher more good in getting out of a hole than a derrick.

* * *

So tonight's game, in which Derringer tries to outpitch Manuel Salvo of the Boston Bees for his 12th win of the year.

KNOX WINS

Faces Tough Opposition

Buddy Walker Meets Whiters In 10-Rounder.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Jack "Buddy" Walker, undefeated Columbus Negro heavyweight, faces the toughest opposition of his short but brilliant fistic career tonight in a 10-round bout with Johnny Whiters, Pontiac, Mich., Negro.

* * *

To Walker, the match represents a chance to boost his stock as a challenger for the world crown worn by Joe Louis. Whiters currently is rated as the No. 6 man in heavyweight ranks, while Walker is in the No. 8 spot.

* * *

Although Walker has 21 victories and a draw under his belt, Whiters remained a 7-to-5 favorite as the hour for the outdoor fight neared.

The Michigan Negro was expected to weigh in at 200 pounds, nine pounds heavier than Walker.

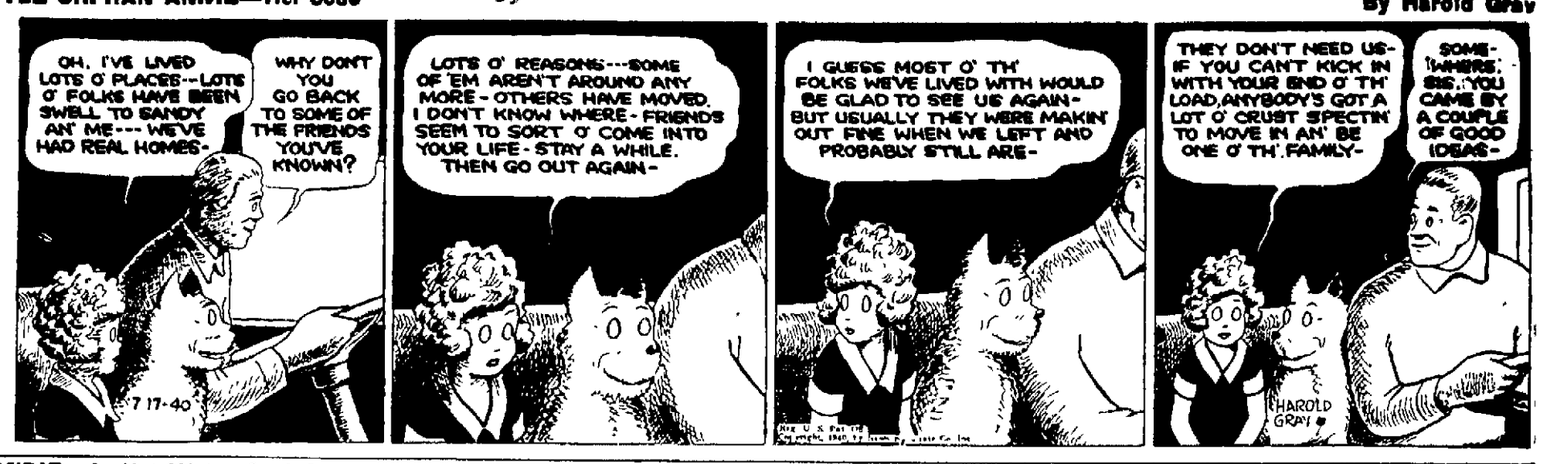
LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—Her Code By Harold Gray



OH, I'VE LIVED LOTS O' PLACES--LOTS O' FOLKS HAVE BEEN SWELL TO SANDY AN' ME--- WE'VE HAD REAL HOMES-
WHY DON'T YOU GO BACK TO SOME OF THE FRIENDS YOU'VE KNOWN?
7-17-40
LOTS O' REASONS---SOME OF 'EM AREN'T AROUND ANY MORE - OTHERS HAVE MOVED. I DON'T KNOW WHERE - FRIENDS SEEM TO SORT O' COME INTO YOUR LIFE - STAY A WHILE. THEN GO OUT AGAIN-
I GUESS MOST O' TH' FOLKS WE'VE LIVED WITH WOULD BE GLAD TO SEE US AGAIN- BUT USUALLY THEY WERE MAKIN' OUT FINE WHEN WE LEFT AND PROBABLY STILL ARE-
THEY DON'T NEED US- IF YOU CAN'T KICK IN WITH YOUR END O' TH' LOAD, ANYBODY'S GOT A LOT O' CRUST SPECTIN' TO MOVE IN AN' BE ONE O' TH' FAMILY-
SOMEWHERS, SIR, YOU CAME BY A COUPLE OF GOOD IDEAS-

PAM— "Even Though It Breaks Me—" By A. W. Brewerton

SIT DOWN, PLEASE
IM MORE THAN STRAINING A POINT, GORDON TO MAKE ANOTHER APPEAL TO YOU, MAN TO MAN, NOT TO ALLOW ANYTHING TO STOP YOU DOING YOUR DUTY TO THIS SERVICE AND YOUR COUNTRY!- DONT BE A DESERTER! - THE OCCASION IS EXTREMELY GRAVE --
DAVID GORDON, ACE INVESTIGATOR OF THE F B I, HAS AGAIN BEEN SUMMONED BY HIS CHIEF!
-- WE'VE A TERRIBLY HARD FIGHT ON OUR HANDS - I'M LEAVING TOMORROW TO JOIN OUR MEN - I'D LIKE YOU TO BE WITH ME!
SO DAVID FRANKLY CONFIDES IN HIS CHIEF ABOUT PAM'S TRAGEDY!
CHIEF - IF YOU'LL LISTEN - I'M GOING TO TELL YOU JUST WHY I CANNOT DO THAT!
7-17
-- SO YOU SEE, I REALLY AM TO BLAME THAT SHE IS BLIND--CHASING THAT CAR, CAUSING THE WRECK - IT'S MY DUTY TO STAND BY THIS UNHAPPY, INNOCENT GIRL EVEN IF I DID NOT LOVE HER -- TO STAND BY AT LEAST UNTIL I'M SATISFIED EVERYTHING HAS BEEN DONE TO LIGHTEN THIS SUDDEN AND TRAGIC BURDEN WHICH HAS FALLEN UPON HER!
--- I AM DOING THIS EVEN THOUGH IT BREAKS ME WITH THE F B I - SHE IS THE ONE PERSON ON EARTH WHO MEANS MORE TO ME THAN - ALL THE REST OF THE WORLD! SO WHAT ELSE MATTERS?
THE CHIEF REALIZES FURTHER ARGUMENT IS USELESS! HAS DAVID SACRIFICED HIS FUTURE - HIS F.B.I. POSITION?

INTEREST LAGS IN EFFORTS TO RALLY MARKET

Many Leaders Fall Back In Face of Indifference By Speculators.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK--Attempts to get a rally going again in the stock market failed today in face of speculative indifference.

Among losers were United States Steel, Bethlehem, Anaconda, General Motors, Chrysler, American Can, DuPont, New York Central, Loft and Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Rail bonds carried on the recent upswing in that division. Commodities were mixed.

Overnight clarification of President Roosevelt's third-term stand, some brokers said, apparently had little effect on market sentiment.

Expectations of further industrial expansion under stimulus of defense spending were widespread in financial quarters. But traders still were in suspense over the threatened Nazi blow against England and the question what form the proposed federal excess profits tax would take.

Trade reports said heavy industry had accumulated further reserves of orders as result of the defense program and capital expenditures in rail, public utility and other fields.

Improvement in the bond market was expected to give impetus to new corporate financing, including utility refunding operations.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Permit Issued — A permit to build a $7,000 brick veneer house at 617 Braeburn avenue, was issued today to Ed Schmidt, contractor.

Order Dog Tied--A dog belonging to H. C. Miller, 152 Rae avenue, was ordered tied up for 10 days, yesterday after it had bitten Susan Belle Biddle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Biddle, Garfield place, according to police.

Visits Here—Mr. and Mrs. Ray F. Barnes and two sons, formerly of Mansfield, are visiting friends here. Barnes, formerly employed on the old Mansfield News, is now manager of a newspaper at Pampa, Tex., owned by R. C. Hoiles, one-time owner of the Mansfield News.

Fined For Speeding — Pleading guilty when arraigned in municipal court yesterday afternoon on a charge of speeding, George Galbreath, 27, Akron, was fined $10 and costs. He was arrested Saturday on U. S. route 42 north of Mansfield by state highway patrolmen who accused him of driving 70 miles an hour.

HAS PROOF

Fish That Got Away Comes Back To Stay.

GALVESTON, Tex. —(AP)— C. Goldberg of Columbus, Ohio, has proof about the size of the big one that got away.

While he was deepsea fishing a ling made off with his plug. Shortly afterward he brought a big ling to gaff. Hooked in its mouth was Goldberg's lost plug.

FIVE KILLED

BUCHAREST—(AP)—Five workmen were killed today when an explosion wrecked the electric power plant at Galati, scene of bloody rioting July 1 during the Soviet Russian occupation of Bessarabia. The city was left without power and light.

CHILD, 4, DIES

SHELBY — Madonna Burnadette Sutter, 4½, died at the family home near the Shelby Settlement at 1 a. m. today following an illness of one week.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sutter, a brother, Glenn, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sutter of Shelby. The body was removed to the Barkdull funeral home pending funeral arrangements.

SUBDIVISIONS GIVEN WARNING

Auditor Says Only Half of 41 In County Have Filed Forms; Deadline 4 Days Away.

Only 20 of the 41 subdivisions in Richland county had filed their 1941 budget requests today and the filing deadline is only four days away, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe warned today.

The budgets must be on file at the auditor's office by Saturday night for consideration by the county budget commission, Wolfe said.

Cities, villages, school districts and townships are required to submit their operating and debt requests to the county so they can be checked with the amount of money available for next year.

Wolfe said the budget commission will examine the requests and tax rates during the next six weeks and then about Sept. 1 tell the subdivisions how much they can have in 1941 for operating and debt purposes.

Appropriations for 1941 must be made to conform to the available income from taxes for the next year, with officials in the subdivisions reducing their financial programs for the year if their budget requests exceed the available tax money.

DEMS PREPARE DRAFT ACTION THIS EVENING

Delegates Insist Roosevelt Accept Nomination For Third Term.

ing the long awaited message had been alternately kissing state standards, autographing the cardboard placards and acting as a cheer leader through the big microphones, stepped in and spanked the convention back to order with his gavel.

Senator Byrnes of South Carolina, floor leader for the Roosevelt forces, announced that the resolutions committee had finished its squabbles over what the platform should contain and that the document could be adopted at the Wednesday afternoon session.

"Tomorrow night we can meet to finish the job for which you came here—of drafting President Roosevelt," he said, and the delegates began whooping again.

An adjournment motion was whipped through, and the delegates, hoarse and sore from their exuberance, went trooping out into the streets.

At a hotel downtown, Hopkins was talking with Mr. Roosevelt by telephone and refusing to say what he had learned. But he also was issuing a statement of confidence that Mr. Roosevelt would accept.

A little later, 14 of the men who have been at the forefront of the third term drive were meeting in the Hopkins hotel suite to talk over the method by which the convention would yield up the nomination.

No word came of their decision. Nor was their any indication that the vice presidential race was settled. Secretary Wallace, Assistant Secretary Louis Johnson, and Supreme Court Justice Douglas were among the men prominently mentioned for the post.

All the thorny spots in the foreign policy section of the platform were said to have been planed away, thus eliminating the likelihood of any floor fight and giving assurance of easy adoption

Barkley's speech last night termed Wendell Willkie, the Republican presidential nominee, a "political chameleon" because he left Democratic ranks two years ago, and said the Republican platform was "written in mud with the feet of a weasel."

"No political party or administration in the history of this or any other nation," he said, "ever made greater sacrifices to avoid involvement in war than have been made by the Democratic party and its present administration."

The morning session for today was dispensed with and the meeting was called for 2 p. m. (EST) with the wheels set for quick disposal of the platform. That out of the way, the road will be clear for getting through with the nomination.

Nevertheless, the indications were that at least three, perhaps four, names in addition to that of the president would be put before the convention.

Chairman Farley, who was given a vote of thanks and a rising ovation last night, for his long service at the head of the national committee, has said his own name would be put up by Senator Glass of Virignia.

Vice President Garner's managers said their plans to have the Texan put in nomination had been changed no whit by the declaration from Barkley.

Although no word came from the headquarters of Senator Wheeler of Montana, Senator Clark of Idaho said he intended to make the nominating speech for his colleague unless Wheeler ordered otherwise.

The Maryland delegation had plans for putting their Senator Tydings in nomination. Tydings was one of those against whom President Roosevelt campaigned in the 1938 primaries.

The fairly general tenor of the statements that came from party leaders after the presidential message carried a demand that Mr. Roosevelt be drafted and a note of appeal that he accept. But there were a few who differed.

Senator Clark of Missouri a Garner advocate, said, "it's a very poor president who can't draft himself if he wants to."

Rep. Elmer J. Ryan of Minnesota, a delegate, issued a statement saying the convention was being run "by a group of White House manipulators." He said the "Corcoran - Cohen - Hopkins group has induced a tired president to accede to a third term draft."

President Waits At Telephone.

WASHINGTON — (INS) President Roosevelt remained "open and available" at the Washington end of the direct phone wire to Chicago today as the Democratic national convention prepared to "draft" him.

The chief executive's engagement list registered only two callers in mid-afternoon — Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the treasury for Great Britain and Fulton Oursler, magazine editor.

Again today, Mr Roosevelt will spend a good deal of his time listening to the radio as the proceedings at Chicago unfold

Last night, he remained up until 1:15 a m, following the dramatic proceedings at Chicago intently.

JAPANESE WIN SHUT-DOWN OF BURMESE ROAD

British Bow to Jap Demands In Spite of Objections Raised by Hull.

Konoye, if he accepts the premiership, will institute an even stronger policy of close relations with the Rome-Berlin axis.

With at least the moral support of Germany and Italy, Japan is expected to move shortly into Indo-China, at the same time launching a revivified military campaign in an effort to wind up the whole "China incident" in the shortest possible time.

Konoye's cabinet is expected to be a streamlined one, consisting of a few young men deeply imbued with nationalistic doctrines and having no old-line party affiliations Konoye is said to believe that Japan's failure to liquidate China thus far is traceable to the vacillating policies of "shuffling men."

Selection of Konoye was agreed upon at a conference between Koichi Kido, president of the privy council, and the Japanese Genro, or elder statesmen.

Because of the government crisis, Emperor Hirohito cancelled his plans to inspect the navy tomorrow, and instead remained in his palace to be on hand to direct the setting up of the new government.

British Protest Closing of Road.

LONDON—(U P)—The government's agreement with Japan to close the Burma road to war shipments to China provoked an uproar in the house of commons today when members shouted that it had been protested by the United States.

At almost the hour that the Japanese foreign office was announcing terms of the agreement in Tokyo, the house of commons was told by Richard A. Butler, under secretary for foreign affairs, that news of the pact was expected at any moment. Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax made a similar statement in the house of lords.

Members of both houses protested.

The British action, upon Japan's demand, leaves China with only one supply route and that is a slow one by way of Russia through Turkestan.

Butler, dodging questions as to whether the United States had protested, created an uproar in commons.

Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, called the agreement shameful and asked whether it could be expected to be more successful than previous "appeasement" moves such as the appeasement of Adolf Hitler at Munich.

Japanese Continue To Ask Apology.

(By Associated Press)

SHANGHAI — Three thousand Japanese residents approved a resolution at a mass meeting tonight urging Japanese military authorities here to "demand the disarming of United States marines unless the marines express their sincerity" by apologizing for treatment of Japanese gendarmes July 7.

Japanese Major Gen. Saburo Miura complained the marines roughly handled 14 Japanese plainclothesmen they arrested.

Col. DeWitt Peck, commanding the U. S. marines in the Shanghai defense area, denied that the Japanese had been mistreated.

Another resolution adopted by the meeting harangued by 16 speakers asked Japanese army authorities to publish immediately the text of conferences between Peck and Miura, who held a third discussion on the matter yesterday.

A spokesman of the Japanese embassy expressed disapproval of messages sent by a hundred prominent American residents of Manila to Peck and Secretary of State Cordell Hull urging a strong stand in the incident of the gendarmes.

"The Manila action is unfortunate," said the spokesman.

"We fear it will make settlement of the case more difficult. We must consider what would happen if such decisions were adopted in New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Seattle or elsewhere."

An authoritative source declared the case had grown far out of its original proportions since the Japanese have taken the position that the honor of their army and nation will not be satisfied unless the Americans apologize.

He promised to report sober next week-end, so the judge let him go.

Convention In Uproar as Roosevelt Releases His Delegates

In a dramatic and unprecedented statement through the permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention in Chicago, Senator Alben W Barkley of Kentucky, President Roosevelt declared that he never had desired to continue in office or to be nominated for a third term and released the more than 750 delegates pledged to him, but it was believed the action virtually assured the renomination of the president by draft. The announcement came at the end of an address by Senator Barkley, during which a wild, 25-minute demonstration was started by the Senator's interpolated mention of President Roosevelt's name This picture, taken at the height of the uproar, shows Barkley, indicated by arrow, on the speakers rostrum as he attempted to restore order while state banners milled before him.

PAY BOOST FOR GALION POWER PLANT EMPLOYES RE-STUDIED

GALION — The proposed ordinance which would make possible a pay hike of five cents per hour for electric light plant employes and vacation of seven days with pay per year, which was up for second reading Tuesday night, at the meeting of city council, was referred back to the rules and ordinances committee.

Another ordinance which was given its second reading was the supplemental appropriation ordinance provided for transfer of $750 from the general fund to provide for a sum of $400 in the police relief and pension fund, and $350 for cleaning out Whetstone creek. This ordinance will get a third reading at the first meeting in August.

A letter was read from the firemen's pension board to the finance committee requesting that $262 34 be appropriated to this board for a sick-leave which has already been granted in the fire department. Councilman Thomas Maidens made a motion which was seconded that the city solicitor be instructed to draw up resolution providing for this transfer of funds

The water department reported favorably for the extension of a water line on the North State road, when, and if funds are available.

Council passed a resolution authorizing and directing the Director of Public Service to sell the old feed water heater in the electric light plant, and to secure the best price possible for it.

Mayor W. M. King's report for the month showed collections as follows: Fines, $111 70; costs, $33 20.

U. S. Army Puts an O. K. on Fishing at Charles Mill Dam

It's okay, fishermen. The U S army says that it will be all right to fish at the Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill reservoirs in the Muskingum valley district.

State Conservation Commissioner Don Waters learned after a conference with Col. J. D Arthur, jr., U. S. army district engineer, that the recent war department ruling against trespassing within 500 feet of federal dams does not apply to the two lakes.

Waters said he was informed the regulation applied to dams in navigable streams only.

"The ruling was made by federal authorities who fear sabotage and there is nothing the division of conservation can do about it," the commissioner said. He added that he thought fishermen affected have accepted the ruling "in a patriotic spirit."

According to Col. Arthur's interpretation of the order, Waters said, other reservoirs in the Muskingum district will not be affected when they are opened to fishing if the regulation still exists. Charles Mill and Pleasant Hill were opened for fishing July 1st.

NAZIS RESUME BOMBING RAIDS

Daylight Attacks Retaliate For British Fights Over Germany.

visited Germany in raids which according to reports to the air ministry had caused great damage.

The latest raids were made despite thunder storms, and mixed rain and sleet storms. Diving through gaps in the storm clouds, the British planes dropped 41½ tons of bombs, high explosive and incendiary, on one oil storage plant at Hanover. A large blast furnace was set ablaze at Hamborn, it was asserted, after there had been an explosion. Aircraft storage houses were raided at Paderborn, it was said

Barge concentrations were bombed at Armentieres, France: airdromes were attacked at Lizieux and Evreaux in northern France and Nordeney and Dekooy in Germany.

Aircraft parks and freight yards were bombed and set afire at Paderborn and Osnabruck, Germany; a munitions factory was bombed at Dortmund, in the industrial Ruhr area, and warehouses were bombed at Willemsoord, Holland.

Italians Admit Submarine Loss.

ROME—(AP)—The Italian high command acknowledged today the loss of a submarine and reported the capture of Kessan in the region of Kurmuk, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Further Italian air bombardment of Alexandria, Egypt, was reported in the high command's communique, along with the bombing of air fields and barracks in Marsa Matruh and Sidi Barrani, in Egypt near the Libyan frontier.

Two British planes were reported shot down in an air fight over Malta and another in raids on Ethiopian centers.

An Italian submarine sank a large oil tanker in the eastern Mediterranean, the communique said.

A total of 610 Italians have been killed in naval and other action against both France and Great Britain since Italy entered the war, it was announced today.

CAIRO, Egypt—(AP)—Royal Air Force planes again raided the Italian Libya port of Tobruk during the night, a communique announced today.

"Although greatly outnumbered, R. A. F. fighters accounted for 10 enemy aircraft definitely shot down and seven more probably never returned to their bases owing to heavy damage inflicted upon them," it said.

WRITER TELLS EXPERIENCE IN FRENCH DEFEAT

Uncensored Story of Route Finally Told; German Victory Brilliant.

the gross Deutschland regiment of a crack Panzer division, the elite regiment of the entire German army, occupying a place similar to that of the old imperial guard—told me the story.

The captain was telling me how his men had rallied after the first demoralizing shock of the new warfare .

"In the first two or three days of the terrible dive-bombing attacks, our men were rattled," he explained. "There were 'flottments' everywhere, broken units drifting back from the front. But when we stopped them—we at headquarters didn't sleep for five days; we were manning all roads—and questioned them, they always seemed surprised. 'But isn't there an order for a retreat?' They invariably asked.

"When we told them there was not, they unfailingly hastened back to their posts."

I asked what had led the men to retreat in such cases. The captain seemed amazed at my ignorance.

"But the cinquieme column, of course," he said. "They were everywhere, everywhere."

"But how did they get in? How did they operate?" I asked.

"Ah," he said, "they were here in advance. They came at night. They dropped by parachute. They got in by all means. They were carefully trained. They had French uniforms. They knew their stuff.

"We got one right here where you stand. You see that spot on the floor?" he pointed to the floor of what had been the dining room of the farm house.

"This man was dressed in the uniform of a second lieutenant. He came late at night, breathless. He said he was from the adjoining division He said: 'We have been hard hit. Our position is hopeless We are even cut from the army headquarters. Can you put me through to the army?'

"We were stunned to learn this division on our left flank was smashed. While preparing to rush through a call to the army we fortunately followed the routine and asked for his papers. He reached in his pocket. A look of consternation crossed his face. He said, 'My God, I have even lost my papers!'

"We were at once on guard and began to question him. He saw his game was up and reached for his pistol. A little captain from Paris beat him to the draw. He stood where you stand. He had great nerve, but he was unlucky."

This was the technique employed by Nazi agents at the front. They seldom ordered retreats. They spread panic by innuenda, disseminating rumors of retreat, or indicating that units on all sides were fleeing It was effective. It was astounding to find how well this technique worked out in an army as compact as the French.

The Germans won the war with their all-out attack on and over and within the French ninth army. They seized the bridges of the Meuse and their tanks were pouring across them before the army headquarters had even begun to realize the necessity of blowing them up.

When weary, ineffective Generalissimo Maurice Gamelin, who was never meant to lead the army to war and whom the lowest subaltern in the army felt would be replaced in time, learned of the break-through on the Meuse, he did an incredible thing. Before his staff at La Ferte he threw up his hands in despair. He clutched his gray temples and said: "Tout est perdu" (all is lost). He was right.

No army ever won a more brilliant victory than that of the German Panzer divisions on the Meuse. No surgeon ever performed a more deft and masterful operation.

That victory, within a week from the start of the great offensive, beat France. You can't get away from that. You can talk about treachery and "sell-outs" and all the rest, but the fact remains France lost because she was thoroughly beaten on the field.

French troops fought with flaming heroism But their military machine proved to be a horse and buggy affair against a great, streamlined Martian express

The French intelligence service knew this great instrument was being constructed. But during the years before the war and during the months before the fatal offensive, internal dissension, incredible factional hatreds rotted away the spine of France while Germany waited to strike—a lean, hungry, savage cat at the rat-hole in the Maginot line—waiting for the moment to pounce.

In another chapter I shall tell of the conditions which made it possible for them to leap at that rat-hole with such devastating success.

'Sweet Wreck' at Mulberry and Fourth

It was literally a "sweet wreck" yesterday when this 22-foot trailer loaded with eight tons of sugar fell to the ground when a fifth wheel gave way. It happened in the drive way of the Standard Oil station, on West Fourth and Mulberry street at 10 a m, just a few feet south of the intersection which already is taxed because of Fourth street being closed off It was more than three hours before the damage was repaired and traffic on Mulberry was slowed up during the time J. J. Bailey, driver of the truck was operating for the Scioto Trucking company.

Dies Scrutinizes Hollywood In Probe of Communists

STUDIES RED ACTIVITY IN FILM CAPITAL

Former Party Worker Tells of Literature Given to Armed Forces.

BEAUMONT, Tex.—(AP)— Hollywood, home of movie stars and political idealists, came under the scrutiny today of Martin Dies, the nation's No. 1 Communist hunter and hater.

The Texas representative expected to draw from John L Leech of Portland, Ore., it was understood, information as to whether there are evidences of long range activity by Soviet Russia within the screen capital

Leech described himself as a former Communist leader in California. He said he was expelled by the Commuist party in 1937 and recently had been employed by the commission of public docks in Portland, Ore.

Leech yesterday gave Dies, acting as a sub-committee of his house committee to investigate un-American activities, a general picture of the Communist party's mode of operation on the west coast.

The sketch revealed a gigantic program to cripple national defense. Leech said it included propagandizing the army and navy, enlistment in the National Guard and establishment of control over shipping and communications facilities

Young girls, Leech said, were utilized to lure sailors and soldiers to parties at the homes of Communist leaders, where earnest talk of Russion ideology and distribution of literature was intended to dent the men's patriotism.

Enlistment in the guard was undertaken to weaken morale in that branch of service, also, Leech testified, and through control of shipping and communication, the Communists hoped to dictate the war policy of this nation, tying up those industries so they could not be used in battle against Russia or its friends

The Communists, do, in fact control west coast shipping and communications today Leech said

ACTS ON HAVENS FOR REFUGEES

AAUW Sends Applications of Mansfielders to Capital For Further Action.

(Picture on Page 6)

First application of Mansfielders to the AAUW for British refugee children were received yesterday by the association's special committee and sent to Washington.

The committee, headed by Mrs. L C. Baumgardner, met at Public Library.

Washington headquarters of the AAUW is handling all applications and assisting to make arrangements for bringing the children to this country

However, action of the British government yesterday in deciding against taking responsibility for sending British children to this country because of the lack of naval convoys for evacuation ships, may cause delay in bringing the children here, it was believed, although children may be sent by their parents aboard un-convoyed vessels, at their own responsibility.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers, Newman street, who have agreed to care for three grandnephews of Mr. Rogers, now living in London, were advised yesterday that the children would not sail until new transportation arrangements had been made.

Hunger Problem Forgotten When Kidnap Planned

DETROIT —(AP)— Eleven-year-old Raymond DiClare forgot when he planned his own "kidnaping" that boys of his age get hungry, so now he won't get his pony after all

Found staring hungrily into an ice cream store soon after daybreak, the boy who sent police on a frantic search for his captor last night admitted he had written his own ransom note in the hope of getting enough money to buy a pony.

The note, addressed to his foster parents, demanded $500 by Saturday midnight and threatened that "your son will be killed," if the money was not forthcoming

"I guess it wasn't such a good idea after all" he told detectives

EXTENDS TIME

Crafton Gives East Side Residents Till Saturday on Water Bills.

Time for paying east side water bills without penalty has been extended by Service-Safety Director C. M Crafton to Saturday noon.

The regular period closed Monday. Today $15,000 had been collected on the water bill, leaving $3.000 yet to be paid Sewer collections amounted to $6,950, leaving $1,700 uncollected

After Saturday noon there will be a penalty for unpaid bills, Crafton said.

PEACE PLANK AGREED UPON

All Serene as Democrats Decide Policies For Coming Campaign.

unity had been established for a third term campaign by President Roosevelt The platform, it was said, will be approved without a dissenting voice.

The platform in general re-affirms and commends the policies and acts of the New Deal's first seven years as the basis for asking for four more years of it.

An interesting plank is one regarding public power. This is designed to draw an issue with the Republican presidential candidate Wendell L. Willkie who headed a private utilities holding company, Commonwealth and Southern Corp., until he was nominated.

Two threats of floor fights—one by those wanted an even stronger pledge of aid to nations resisting aggression, and the other by those who thought an anti-third term plank would be a good idea—remained as the full resolutions committee of 55 men and 52 women largest in history, convened to receive the unanimous report of its 17-member drafting sub-committee

The isolationists — Sens. Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, Pat McCarran of Nevada, and David I. Walsh of Massachusetts—expressed approval of the foreign affairs declaration.

The national defense plank calls for strengthening the army, navy and air forces to keep war from the Americas, but contains no reference to the controversial question of conscripting youth for military or non-combatant service

The labor plank was reported to be satisfactory to Thomas Kennedy, Pennsylvania resolutions committee member and international secretary-treasurer of the CIO S United Mine Workers union This indicated that New Deal labor policies would be praised and that no recommendation for changes in the Wagner labor relations act would be made. The Republican platform asked labor law changes to make the act "fair" to employers and all groups of employes

Wallace also believed that the farm plank was "grand," which indicated general approval of his policies of soil conservation, production control, parity payments, and use of the food stamp and cotton stamp plans to increase consumption among low income groups.

The social security plank reportedly calls for liberalization of old age pensions, and extension of the program to groups now outside the law

Eagles Dedicate Remodeled Lodge Quarters Tonight

John A. Abel of Marion, grand worthy president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be guest speaker at dedication exercises for the newly remodeled Eagles home on North Main street, tonight.

The dedication opens a four-day program which concludes at 2 p. m. Sunday with an initiation of candidates at 2 p. m. at which O. Lee Thomas, past state president, will be the speaker.

Open house will be held at 7 p. m., with Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch scheduled to give the welcoming address at 8 p. m. Following the dedication, dancing and a floor show will be held.

Special nights for lodges from surrounding towns and cities have been designated for the remainder of the week with dancing and a floor show scheduled for each night. Lodges from Mt. Vernon, Loudonville, Ashland, Wooster and Shelby will be guests Thursday night.

NEW DETOUR ON W. 4TH OPENED

Traffic Rerouting Shifted as WPA Pushes Work of Tearing Up Street.

The route 30-N detour on West Fourth street was shifted farther west again today as work progressed on tearing up the pavement.

The Bowman street detour from Park avenue west to Fourth street was abandoned as the Bowman and West Fourth intersection was closed For several days Route 30 traffic will be routed out Park avenue west and down Penn avenue to West Fourth, Mayor W J Locke said today.

The work is moving rapidly and about 75 additional men are being added to the Fourth street job this week as the work on the Bowman street water line is completed. By the end of the week there will be a total of 175 men on the West Fourth street paving project, he said.

Within a few days a new detour to West Fourth, or Route 30-North, will be set up. It was undecided today whether the detour would cross from Park avenue west on Ausdale to West Fourth street road, or would continue out Park avenue to a state road leading over to Crestline, where 30-North can be picked up again.

Judge to Question More Caddies in 'Shakedown' Case

Probate Judge C J Anderson planned to question more Possum Run golf course caddies in juvenile court today before disposing of a case involving two caddies at the course who admitted assaulting a fellow worker, allegedly because he failed to make contributions to a "protective association"

Sheriff E. P. Long uncovered the racket two days ago and took two youths, one 14 and the other 15, into court. Judge Andreson continued the hearing until other witnesses can be brought in for questioning.

The two boys confessed beating Robert Arntz, 14, of 41 Florence avenue a caddy Young Arntz revealed that older boys employed at the golf club had been collecting "protection money" from new employes and giving them a severe "initiation" if they failed to pay

RECEIVES BIDS

School Board to Let Hedges Remodeling Contract Soon.

The Mansfield board of education is scheduled to open bids at noon Thursday for remodeling the Hedges school building to provide a combination auditorium and gymnasium in the building.

Estimated to cost about $8,000, the project is expected to get under way immediately so it can be finished when school opens in September.

Plans call for the removal of partitions between class rooms at the southwest corner of the first floor of the structure to make space for the auditorium Some of the rooms were left vacant when the Hedges junior high pupils were transferred to the new Johnny Appleseed building.

The Secret's Out

MR. ROOSEVELT'S well-kept secret as to his third term intentions is known to the world at large today.

He has never had, and does not have, he tells the Democratic convention, "any desire or purpose to continue in the office of president, to be a candidate for that office or to be nominated by the convention for that office."

Those are his words.

They do not say that he will decline to be drafted, as most certainly he will be.

They do not say, as a predecessor in the White House once said, concerning another term, "If nominated I will not accept, and if elected I will not serve."

His meaning is less obscure than Calvin Coolidge's famous "I do not choose to run."

Undoubtedly the president will submit to a draft for a third term because of the precarious world situation.

Yet the convention that will draft him, probably a day earlier than had been scheduled for nominations, will not give him the platform plank he wanted concerning international affairs.

He had favored a convention pledge of "all aid" to the Allies short of sending troops.

This the convention platform has scrapped.

Thus the candidate will be drafted, but denied the support he had sought on the problem he will be primarily retained to handle.

That is not so strange when it is reflected that by his silence on a third term, President Roosevelt has effectually blocked any other candidates from waging active campaigns for the nomination, and in view of the fact that no Democratic "dark horse" would have a chance against the amazing Mr. Willkie in November.

One political writer at Chicago calls the manner in which the president disavowed any third term intentions but left the way open for a draft "one of the shrewdest coups d'etat in American political history."

A United States senator, not supporting a third term, answers "It's a very poor president who can't draft himself—if he wants to."

November will tell an interesting story.

It Could Happen Here

THERE may have been times when in the course of its improvement West Fourth street has looked like a European street after the passage of a squadron of dive bombers but the spirit among workmen, contractors, and "sidewalk supervisors" has always been different from the fear and defeatism along Europe's thoroughfares.

Probably the point was never more sharply illustrated than the other evening when some two hundred spectators lined up along the curb to watch a loudly heralded horseshoe match in the middle of the torn-up street.

The fact that the match was almost washed away by rain and that three of the four original contenders failed to "show" spoiled the event not a bit! In fact, it gave the bystanders a chance to indulge in the favorite American pastime: ribbing.

And what's more it gave the indomitable "challenger" Pete Martin a chance to illustrate true Yankee initiative by rounding up an opponent he could trounce speedily and thoroughly.

Even the unlucky loser had a point more than showed up in his scores. He typified the American feeling best expressed in the phrase, "O. K. I'll be a sport," and the companion sentiment, "We started this thing, let's get it over with."

The "match" was the kind of thing that could happen here—and as war's gloom spreads, probably in no other nation in the world.

This Changing World

TRULY this world in which we live becomes more complicated day by day—as witness the rules and regulations that are soon to govern the operation of bicycles in Mansfield.

Time was—and it doesn't seem too far back, either—when all you had to do to own a bicycle was earn the money. Perhaps you did it by "peddling papers" either on a street corner or on a route.

Perhaps you spent the summer mowing grass, and the winter carrying out ashes for the neighbors, all at a rate of compensation that seemed woefully slow in piling up the treasure that would one day bring you that glistening bicycle.

Perhaps you had a father who fell victim to your insistent persuasion.

At any rate, most boys—and some girls—managed to acquire, one way or another, a bicycle. It was their pride and joy and if it had taken some patient labor to obtain, then it was all the more prized.

If it had a bell, and, wonder of wonders, a coaster brake, then so much more reason to hold the head a little higher, and throw the chest out a little more.

And so one rode proudly along the street or the country road, proud ruler of all he surveyed.

But it is no longer thus—coaster brakes and bells are no longer "de luxe" equipment. They are necessary and required. And whoever, in the good old days, would have thought that bicycles would one day have to have license plates?

It is our constantly complicating civilization that does these things to us.

No one will argue that with automobiles swarming over the streets and highways, that bicycle travelers need all the protection they can be given, by rules, regulations and license plates.

But, doggone it, some of the glamor of owning a bicycle seems to be gone.

Postponed Good Deed

THERE is reassurance in the statement of Marshall Field, chairman of the national refugee committee, that the organization will continue to function in spite of the British decision to stop sending children to the United States and Canada.

It is postponement, not abandonment, of the plan, Mr. Field insists. The committee will be "kept intact so that it may be available for any further change or emergency which may arise." American neutrality regulations at the present time make it impossible for us to send our own ships to get the children for whom we feel so much sympathy. That is a problem which congress may be able to work out wisely and humanely before it is too late.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Talbot Patrick is the publisher of the Goldsboro, N. C. News-Argus, and every now and then he likes to take a run up to New York. On his last outing here he went out to the fair, realizing as he got off the train that his pass book had just two tickets left. It was one of those books that may be refilled after the last ticket is used.

To get his refill in a hurry, Mr. Patrick used one ticket entering the Fair grounds. He promptly left the grounds through an exit and presented the book for re-entry, using up the last ticket. It was at the moment he presented the book the second time that he realized, to his amazement, that he was using last year's book—from the San Francisco fair.

One of our favorite waiters in Manhattan is Julius, who has been at the Pennsylvania hotel "Nineteen years and eight months, sir." Julius is the sort of picturesque old Manhattan character you don't forget. He looks like the man who carries the drum in the Spirit of '76. He has a special dessert which he makes himself whose ingredients are rum, strawberries, and ice cream. It's a Russian dessert. He would be proud to fix it for you some night, if you are there, and ask him to.

Another tip for those who enjoy an occasional splurge in distinctive cuisines is this. Let Miro at the Coq Rouge fix you a perfectly swell dish which contains lobster and tuna. It hasn't even got a name. It's just something Miro thought up. There are other ingredients, but then Miro won't talk. It's his secret and it is something worth keeping.

If you have tears to weep, prepare to weep them now. Weep for poor John McCartney, who left the other day for Lake Placid and a season of toil. As you know, Kate Smith has a daily 15 minute broadcast period. To broadcast there must be an engineer. But Kate is broadcasting from her summer home on Lake Placid. Therefore, Johnny is off to Lake Placid for three months, to work just 15 minutes a day.

And what then, John?

"The day after I get back," says John, "I leave for my vacation."

Strange how the name of Judge Crater bobs up in the diary of Manhattan. Every few months he is supposed to have been seen in some remote sector of the world. In New York his disappearance and whereabouts is as much a mystery today as it was twelve years ago.

One night he was here, in the flesh, smiling and handsome. He had dinner at a Broadway restaurant. Some time during the dinner he got up, excused himself, and walked out into the street.

Not a single solitary human who ever knew him, or has his interest at heart, knows where he went or what happened to him. Yet, it hasn't been so long ago that someone "recognized" him in Death Valley. Another account had him in some African refuge. I have talked with men who are sure that he is in China. Now comes a school teacher from New York who thinks she saw him in Mexico two months ago, sitting in a country store, smoking a pipe.

TIME TO DRAFT FARLEY AGAIN.

An Aerial Campaign In the Offing

—By JACK STINNETT

CHICAGO—I've never been able to figure out yet when people sleep during political conventions. Decent and respectable folk go home and to bed, leaving the city somewhat freer and easier to get around in, but the convention gang carries on. They must work in shifts, because no sooner are the hotel lobbies cleared of nightowls than the morning crowds come on. In the bars, it is impossible to tell who is having a nightcap and who an eye-opener. In the restaurants, you can't even guess by the food who's having a bedtime snack or who's eating breakfast.

And always, the conversation is as thick as a pea-souper. But if you listen long enough and hard enough, you'll get enough choice bits to set even the foggiest mind racing down paths of possibilities.

* * *

They'll Be In the Air.

For instance, around the table at one of these midnight snack-early breakfast tables the other morning, it came out that the presidential race probably will be one of the flyingest campaigns on record.

The reasoning was something like this: Wendell L. Willkie already has demonstrated that he believes in carrying the G. O. P. banner above the clouds. In his pre-convention campaign, he made hay in his whirlwind 48-day campaign mostly by harvesting his crop of personal appearances with airplane propellers. He recently flew from New York to Washington for the big Republican conclave out of which came the naming of Rep. Joe W. Martin as campaign manager and permanent chairman of the national committee.

He flew from there to his vacation in Colorado. In other words there's no doubt about Willkie. He'll do an air campaign from the moment he unleashes until the polls open Nov. 5.

On the other side of the picture, there's President Roosevelt. For something over eight years, he has been the hod-carrier of the Democratic campaigns.

Not even his worst enemy would refuse to concede that he's one of our ablest campaigners and not even his dearest friends would contend that Democratic constituents don't care about the intimacy of seeing F. D. R. and, after a fashion, discussing situation with him personally. The radio is great, but it doesn't take the place of the old stump when it comes to reaching down into hearts of the people and pulling out votes.

But what is Roosevelt's predicament? He's tied to the big chair behind the gadget-strewn desk in his oval-domed office. On the speed and efficiency of the defense program depends not only our state of preparedness for "any contingency," but a lot of November votes as well.

If the preparedness campaign bogs down, so does the New Deal. How, then, can the president turn his back on Washington for those long swings around the country, campaigning to keep the dominant Democratic ideology going for another four years?

He can't do it often, he might do it once. The only other answer is a series of quick thrusts by air into enemy territory . . . a little dive bombing from the capital base and back again before the ink is dry on his last order.

Another Precedent Gone?

IF ROOSEVELT should, it was pointed out, it will be another precedent-shatterer, just like his flying to Chicago to accept his nomination on the convention floor in 1932. Besides, for as many years as there have been airplanes, there has been an ironclad understanding against a president's taking the airways.

But times have changed. The heads of other nations have been flying all over the place in recent years. Hitler flies, Mussolini even pilots his own plane, Chamberlain and Churchill lately have done more travel by air than any other way.

Add to that the fact that Roosevelt is the most air-minded President we have had and that he is eager for the whole country to be airminded and you have a lot of reasons why he might try to match Willkie in an air blitzkrieg.

Listen, World!

Down a Shadowed Street—a Light

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WE SAW them, two, grinning, little tykes, as we stepped out of the taxi to climb a dingy stair to friendly Pietro's restaurant. And if you've a taste for the best spaghetti in all America and steaks three inches thick, you'd better go climbing too. But to get back to those two tykes—

Maybe you know 45th Street and Third Avenue, N. Y., yes? A shadowed place, with the elevated roaring overhead and the huge newspaper trucks rumbling underneath and the grime lying thick on shabby doorway and weathered sill. Only at night you forget the grime and the spit o' rain, with the lights floating like orange poppies in the murk and the laughing children dancing like moths beneath each glowing globe.

And they'd been dancing with the best of them, the two little tykes who stood waiting as we stepped down, merry eyes twinkling as they aimed their broken water pistols and squealed, "Stick 'em up!" Oh, yes, I know—"One shouldn't encourage children in making gangster gestures." But these weren't gangsters, as they themselves speedily explained. Four-year-old babies with the wobble hardly gone from their little legs or the lisp from the small-boy grins.

"Hones', lady, we don't mean a weally stick-up," confided the chubby, dark one with the bobbing, black curls. "We's jess playin'."

"Jess playin'," echoed the slender, shy one with the golden hair, blue eyes wistfully seeking an understanding.

Big John stooped and chuckled, Benton bent and beamed, Ferris grinned back, remembering water pistols himself. Military tactics were discussed. Nickles were produced. "T'anks!" said Black Curls. But, "Not for me!" said Wistful Eyes. "What the heck!" said John. For never surely, in the memory of man, had any small East 45th tad refused such welcome bounty. Yet refuse it he had, and did.

"Mother won't let me take money fwom peoples," he explained firmly, though his eyes lingered longingly on the forbidden treasure. And, when urged to ask her, returned with the additional verdict that Dad refused it too. Amazement on amazement! What sort of a Dad was this . . . what sort of a home, under an elevated, to produce such self-respect? Newspaper John went nosing, got the story.

Mother and Dad proved to be Anna and John Mueller, 731 Third Avenue. Did they know what a wonderful little son they had? Hiding their pride, they said it was no doings of theirs; we'd have to thank the kind sisters who ran the nursery just around the corner The Home of the Divine Providence on East 45th.

"Y'u see," said Dad, "we had hard times when the kid was born. I can turn my hand to most anything — paper-hanging, plastering, plumbing, painting — but there wasn't anything to be had. Isn't much now either; gotta take what I can get. But it seemed worse then, what with the kid being so new and the wife having to work. So there wasn't nothing to do but put him with the sisters. And—"

He stopped, gratitude choking the slow, simple words. Then, eyes warming with pride, he went on. "An' they've made a good little man o' him. That's why we don't let him get any of those cheap ways, like taking money from strangers or chasin' wild."

"They made a good little man o' him." Plain words but what a kindly miracle lay behind them! Desperate parents . . . helpless child . . . a shabby shelter where the fare is often as meager as in the rickety tenements about it. But Love lighted the drab walls of that shelter, warmed the scant food, passed from gentle, workwor hands to a little life just beginning. And there in a grimy corner, where that life might have gone so wrong, they planted the seeds of honor and self-respect—they lit a light that no grime or sudden darkness can ever blow out.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

CHICAGO—For the inner Democratic politicos the big question mark over-hanging the convention has not been the ticket. That was settled for them last week when Roosevelt gave the nod on the third term. To the insiders, from that moment, the nomination became academic.

But simultaneously there plunked into the fore another mystery that has had both New Deal and regular chieftains going around in circles ever since. This is the question, WHAT is Jim Farley going to do?

Can he be persuaded to remain as national chairman, and manage a campaign which even the most enthusiastic administrationites admit is going to be very tough? Or will he step out and leave a big gaping hole that will be extremely difficult to fill?

Only one man knows the answer—Farley. Like Roosevelt, silent for two and a half years on the third term question, big, genial Jim has taken no one into his confidence.

You can get both a yes and no answer from his most intimate associates. Some are sure he has made up his mind to quit; others that he can yet be talked into managing the campaign.

One widespread story is that he told the president at their Hyde Park conference that Roosevelt would have to find himself another national chairman if he ran again. Yet, Harry Hopkins, the personal White House emissary here, privately has expressed the steadfast belief that Farley "will be with us."

* * *

Two Certainties.

Two things are certain: One, that all hands are extremely anxious to have Jim direct the campaign; two, that strongly as he disapproves of the president running again, Farley will not "take a walk."

He may wash his hands of Roosevelt politics, but he won't bolt the party. Jim is an organization Democrat and regularity is a cardinal principle of his political faith.

Also it is certain that if Jim is brought around it will be only with the greatest reluctance and after the hardest kind of pulling. He feels his grievances very deeply, and arrangements he already has made for re-entering business would have to be revised. Jim has agreed to take over the New York Yankees Sept. 1.

Obviously enjoying the mystery over what he will do, Jim laughingly meets all questions with a counter-query: "What do you think?"

Frank Walker.

If Farley does retire, his most likely successor is Frank Walker, lawyer, head of a chain of movie theaters, head of the Roosevelt Library Foundation in Hyde Park, and an old personal friend of both the president and Farley.

Friendly, quiet-mannered and retiring, Walker doesn't want the job, either. It scares him. He has been one of the most active people here in exerting pressure on Farley to remain. But if Roosevelt insists, Walker will respond. He is devoted to the president and will do anything he asks.

If Walker becomes national chairman, as lieutenants he is pretty certain to draft Mayor Ed Kelly of Chicago and Edward J. Flynn, Bronx leader and New York secretary of state. Next to Farley, these two are the most experienced executives in the Democratic organization. Either would be a sure choice for the chairmanship but for their local machine backgrounds.

Chicago Chaff.

The Utah and Florida delegations are divided 50-50 between men and women—the only such at any major convention. . . . Dr. Francis Townsend, old-age czar, attempted to put the bee on the Democratic platform-makers and candidates as he did at Philadelphia, but with no better luck. The only one to give him a tumble was McNutt, whom Townsend is now boosting for vice president.

Chief pluggers for the "little business" plank in the platform, promising loans and protection against big business; were Senator James Mead of New York; Chairman Adolph Sabath of the house rules committee; Dr. John F. Carruthers, head of the National Small Business Research Bureau; and James G. Daly, president of the National Small Businessmen's association.

Roosevelt CIO.

Though John L. Lewis may be rumbling anti-third term blasts and secretly conjuring up a third party movement, a score of the most potent leaders in the CIO are playing a very important role at this Roosevelt convention.

They are doing it both as CIO chiefs with an official CIO headquarters, and as delegates from six states (Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, California and Washington). Chief among them are Phil Murray, quiet, astute CIO vice president; Tom Kennedy, United Mine Workers vice president; John Owen, head of the Ohio CIO; and Sam Caddy, president of the Kentucky United Mine Workers.

The CIO men are silent regarding Lewis' antics, but they are going out of their way to let the world know they are for Roosevelt.

It was Murray, Kennedy and Owen who quietly arranged that third-term endorsement by the United Auto Workers last week, on the eve of the convention—a direct slap at Lewis, who the week before had told the Townsend convention Roosevelt would be "ignominiously defeated" if he ran again.

Also it was Murray who, in direct contrast to Lewis' anti-Roosevelt fireworks at the GOP convention, denounced Willkie at the platform committee hearings as an enemy of unions and the National Labor Relations Board.

All this, like Lewis' performance in Philadelphia, was no accident. It was carefully arranged in advance for the express purpose of repudiating Lewis' attitude.

Note—Either Murray or Kennedy is certain to be one of the co-chairmen of the Democratic labor campaign committee.

Don't think that a man is foolish because he thinks that you are.

Good advice is well enough in its way, but a hungry man can't make a satisfactory meal on it.

Daily Bible Thought

Peace I leave with you, my peace I give unto you. Let not your heart be troubled, neither let it be afraid.—John 14 27.

On the Highway

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I TRAVELED eastward across Ohio, on through the panhandle of West Virginia, and then on a large sign high on the right, among mountain ferns, grass, and leaning trees, I read PENNSYLVANIA STATE LINE.

I thrilled as I entered the threshold of the state where I was born.

As far as eye could see, no other marking showed. The highway was made of different material. All highway signs were lettered within the outline of a perfect keystone.

A Pennsylvania train sped eastward. The keystone, trimmed artfully in red, was plainly marked in front above the pilot. I thought how rapidly and with what significance that emblem moves along. It reappears at every curve, at the crest of every grade, at dangerous crossings and on metal plates of bridges.

Eighty miles or so farther on, the first long mountain ridge spread out before me. The wooded side looked blue, and the top seemed even as it stretched in one great arc along the eastern sky.

Farther on, the way was thickly timbered on both sides with occasional white-faced rocks protruding from the green. The hardwood trees and evergreens made it much like a planted garden. The fragrance of the cedars and mountain birch came to me, quite refreshing. I felt the cool moist breath of a clear rushing stream just to the left. Mossy stones were wet with spray and glistened in the constantly moving light that flecked the stony floor.

I drove up a small ravine between two mighty timbered ridges. The highway was darkened by tall thick foliage on either side. It seemed I was being slowly folded into the soft green covering of the mountainside, until it was part of me and I was a part of what I saw and loved. Still I heard down through the rocky slope, the language of the splashing stream and the murmur of the wind among the treetops.

On the upward winding road a curve was always just ahead. Here cars appeared suddenly, from nowhere, and disappeared as quickly around the bend behind me. The road grew straighter as I neared the top. Trees were not so tall. I could see blue morning sky between the trunks that stood foremost upon the crest.

At the highest point, I parked, got out and gazed far down upon the panorama of cultivated farms, towns and villages. Windows of a great tall building reflected sharply in the sun. The graceful winding highway swarmed with cars like ants.

Eastward a long wide valley rested securely between the ranges. Shocks of wheat stood in the yellow, stubbled fields, like dots. Green, uncultivated clearings along the farther ridge were like the open pages of a giant book—perhaps of "God's Second Bible," the great outdoors.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

VARIED AFFAIRS TOP ENTERTAINING LIST

Plans for Future Picnics Occupy Several Groups During Business Meetings; Park Auxiliary Schedules Lawn Fete.

A NUMBER of smaller groups met yesterday for various activities, some social, some religious, and some philanthropic. Members of the Frances Willard chapter of the W. C. T. U. were entertained by the Misses Bauer at their home, 42 Helen avenue, when Mrs. F. O. Haldeman conducted the business meeting, and Mrs. J. H. Sheriff led the devotions.

Mrs. A. O. Fonkalsrud was in charge of the program presented before the 20 guests. August 20 was selected as the date for the meeting which will be in the form of a picnic. No place has been decided upon as yet.

Yesterday was surely a busy one for Mrs. Haldeman for she and Mrs. Rhea Duckworth, accompanied by Mrs. Candace Smith, sang at the meeting of the Stars of Hope class of the South Main Street Evangelical church which was attended by 35 members.

The hostess was Mrs. E. L. Myers, 258 Davis road, assisted by Mrs. Chloe Linkhart, Mrs. Roma Martin, Mrs. Emma Lemert and Mrs. Margaret Hutzelman. Devotions were led by Mrs. Laura DeVore, and Mrs. Esther Braden conducted the business meeting during which it was decided to have a lawn fete at the church. Mrs. Mary Brandt was named chairman for the function.

Shows Movies.

Rev. C. L. Kern, a guest, led the group in prayer, and Mr. Myers showed movies of a recent Mexican trip. Refreshments were served in the garden at the close of the evening, and it was announced that the group will have a picnic Aug. 20 with Mrs. Undine Hubbs and her committee in charge. Mrs. Catherine Cook will lead the devotions.

A routine session was held by the Charles Dick auxiliary last night at the Memorial building when arrangements were made to have a covered-dish dinner at 6 p. m. Aug. 1 at North Lake park. Members were asked to bring table service.

During the afternoon the sewing circle met, and Mrs. Vernia Hall and Mrs. Nona Heidinger were hostesses for the 6 o'clock dinner. An all-day meeting for sewing will be held July 25.

* * *

Plans were completed for the lawn fete which will be held Friday evening at the park, when members of the Liberty park auxiliary met at the club house last night. The next meeting will be a social at the new shelter Aug. 6 with Mrs. Gordon Watson in charge at 7:30 p. m.

Elect Delegates.

Mrs. Joseph Zimmerman, jr., and Mrs. R. C. Straub were named the delegates to the state convention of the Catholic Ladies of Columbia which will be held at Dayton, Aug. 20 at the Miami hotel. An evening banquet will be the principal event of the day. Mrs. D. L. Maxwell and Mrs. James Herlihy are the alternates.

Plans were made to hld a covered-dish dinner July 30 at North Lake park for members and juvenile members. Mrs. Herlihy is chairman of the affair. Mrs. Albert Bair was obligated last night during the session.

Thirty members of the Amona class of the St. Matthew's Lutheran church met for a picnic supper at North Lake park Tuesday evening. Hostesses were Mrs. Effie Dent, Mrs. Christine Konves and Mrs. Marie Bonham. Hearts were in play during the evening with prizes being won by Mrs. Clara Mitchell and Mrs. Mary Worley. The next meeting will be held Aug. 13 with the place to be announced later.

Group Plans to Care for English Children

Yesterday afternoon at the Public library the Mansfield branch American Association of University Women's committee for bringing English children to the city for the duration of the war met to further discuss their plans. At present club members, and other residents of the city have volunteered to make a home, or assist with providing care for one or more children of English A. A. U. members. Arrangements are now being made to bring the Pictured above are the committee members. Seated from left to right are Mrs. D. C. Cole, Mrs. L. C. Baumgardner, chairman; Mrs. D. W. Horton, Mrs. R. D. Lindsay. The quintet standing from left to right are Mrs. M. W. Hicber, Mrs. K. E. Buhr, Mrs. W. E. Slabaugh, Mrs. George Ingram and Mrs. John W. Graham.

Activities of Social Clubs

MRS. WILLIAM ROBERSTON was awarded the prize for the contest at the meeting of the Merry Ten club which met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lotz, Myers avenue, Tuesday evening. During other games all members received dainty favors. Later a luncheon was served at small tables which were decorated with garden flowers. There will be no meeting in August, but on Sept. 10, Mrs. C. E. Rowan, Indiana avenue, Lincoln Heights, will be hostess.

* * *

There were 12 members of the E-T club present at North Lake park last night for a covered-dish dinner. The evening was spent socially, and plans were made to meet Aug. 20 at the park at 6 p. m. for another covered-dish dinner.

* * *

A birthday dinner honoring Mrs. Pauline Black was held by members of the Social Crochet club yesterday at the North Lake park pavilion. The table was centered with a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. The next meeting will be held July 30 at the park when Mrs. George Guiher is honored.

Informal Reception Honors Newly-Weds

Dr. and Mrs. Charles Trimble of Crestline were pleasantly surprised last evening by a group of Mansfield friends who motored to their home for a social party. Dr. and Mrs. Trimble were married recently. Before her marriage Mrs. Trimble was Mrs. Emma Harris, 300 Park avenue west, and a member of the Judge Mansfield Bible class of the First Presbyterian church.

Members of the class and a few friends, numbering 22, were in the party. The group presented them with a gift of linen. Remarks were made by Judge Edwin Mansfield.

MEET JULY 30.

Members of the Service League will meet July 30 at the home of Mrs. Robert R. Black, 182 West Second street, it was announced today.

ROUTINE SESSION.

Members of Alpha Pi Sigma sorority had a routine session at the Mansfifeld-Leland hotel last evening during which plans were made for a social meeting Aug. 6. Mrs. Ralph Andregg and Mrs. Raymond Beal will be the hostesses for the affair, the place to be announced later.

NUPTIAL EVENTS STILL LEADING IN SOCIETY

Coming Marriage of Miss Frances Case, Glenn A. Neal Disclosed; Eberhardt Sisters Fete Mrs. Ben Wigton at Party.

PUBLIC announcement of another approaching marriage was made this morning following a miscellaneous shower given last night by Mrs. E. H. Case and Mrs. Paul Oakes, 116 South Glenn avenue, for Miss Frances Case who will become the bride of Glenn A. Neal.

The marriage will be an event of July 20 with Dr. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, reading the ceremony at the bride's home, 422 West Fourth street, at 1 o'clock. Miss Case is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Case. Mr. Neal is the son of Reuben Neal, 29 Greenwood avenue.

Games were played by the 18 guests, and prizes won by Miss Edith Preston, Miss Lois Laubscher and Miss Vivian Stiner. These awards were presented to the honoree.

Buffet style refreshments were served from a long table decorated with a miniature bride and groom surrounded by flowers. Lighted tapers and small bridal bouquets marking the guests' places were used to complete the setting.

Another nuptial event which is being chronicled in social annals is the party given last night by the Misses Betty and Billie Eberhardt, 3 Vennum avenue, for Mrs. Ben Wigton, the former Miss Doris Marshall. Associate hostesses for the kitchen shower were Mrs. Frank Wilmore, Miss Barbara Schwarz, and Mrs. R. W. Moore.

Bridge and hearts were in play at three tables with prizes being won by the Misses Gwen Taylor, Betty Richey and Edna Dean. These were presented to the honoree. The hostesses gave Mrs. Wigton a gift of crystal. Garden flowers were used as decorations when refreshments were served.

Friends in Galion and Mansfield have just learned of the marriage of Miss Kathryn Hager, daughter of Mrs. Otis Johnson, Galion, to Charles Hendrickson, Mansfield. The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. Philip Wiggerman at the St. Paul Evangelical parsonage at Covington, Ky., on July 6. Mr. and Mrs. Ross Cook, Crestline, were the attendants.

The couple visited in Cincinnati and Covington before returning to Galion. The former Miss Hager was graduated from the Galion high school, and has been employed at the Morris store, while Mr. Hendrickson, a graduate of the Ontario high school, is employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company.

Personals

Mrs. D. C. Davey, Philadelphia, Pa., formerly of Mansfield, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Frank, Lucas, and friends and relatives in the Mansfield area.

ENTERTAIN CLUB.

Members of the Do-Be-There club of the Ontario Community church met with Mrs. Horace Cook yesterday with the Misses Dorothy Milliron and Marguerite Walker as hostesses. Sewing was done, and two contests conducted. Winners were the Misses Eileen Furry and Maxine Duvall. Luncheon was served at the close of the session. The next meeting will be held Aug. 20.

MEET TOMORROW.

The Federated Patriotic societies will have a covered-dish dinner at 6 p. m. tomorrow for members and their families at North Lake park.

END YEAR'S WORK.

The season was closed for members of the Library committee of the Women of the Moose last night when they enjoyed a steak roast at the Koozer cottage at Mifflin lake. There were seven members and one guest, Mrs. John Eberhart. Cards were played after supper with prizes going to Mrs. Mabel Keller and the guest.

Minimum For Weekend Travel Lends Chic

By SUSAN BARDEN
International Illustrated News Writer.

Those of you who have just recently become confirmed week-end guests, may have found that on your first two or three experiences as a visitor, all was not well with the wardrobe. You either traveled too light or too heavy.

If this was the case, then a list of necessities for a happy weekend may be a help.

A minimum wardrobe will be easier on your budget and will also keep you from feeling self-conscious on arrival at your destination. The girl who arrives with dozens of bags is sure to feel that her hostess thinks she has made a mistake and plans to spend the summer.

A traveling outfit, play suit and evening dress will be a good beginning. Of course as the season wears on you'll pick up additions here and there, and will be able to make changes in these fundamentals from your regular summer clothes.

The outfit worn by Virginia Vale is perfect for travel, whether you are motoring or going by train. It consists of a station wagon coat, the very newest thing for summer wear, and a tailored silk dress. The coat is made of bright yellow and brown plaid on beige wool. The dress of bamboo beige is accented by a colorful raffia belt, and the felt beret and shoes are of matching beige. Air-conditioned trains and modern motoring make these light shades both smart and practical, and you won't look so town-like when you step out and are met by the slack-clad country figures.

If you don't know your hostess' plans for the day, it's always safe to don a play suit with a detachable skirt. The one modelled by Priscilla Lane is bias-cut and made of striped cotton. The rippling skirt has a wide sash that ties in the back. The suit itself is a one-piece affair and will be perfect for tennis and lounging around getting a tan. But should you be asked to run into the village or go for tea at a neighboring house, all you'll have to do is hop into your skirt and you are fully garbed for country activity.

Your evening dress should be of chiffon. This will pack easily, and with moderate care and a little tissue paper it will not have to be pressed. Gale Storm has selected an ideal party frock that is both chic and youthful. It is made of sheer pastel blue chiffon alone shirtmaker lines. With this is worn a wide self-material belt atop the long, graceful skirt.

When you have added your bathing suit, sneakers, sons and sunglasses to the three costumes shown in the above photographs, you will find that your bags have the look of an experienced weekender, and you will be able to view their contents with pride.

Tasks May Be Too Hard For Child

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

Some children who failed in one or more subjects at school this spring are attending summer school. Some others are studying under a tutor.

In some instances the child studying during the summer will be able to do the work of his regular grade in the fall. But in all too many cases too much will have been expected of the child. Either he was too far in arrears or his teacher failed to help him as she should to overcome his handicap.

As a rule, the teacher chosen for the child, however skillful she may be otherwise, overlooks the principle which is most essential to the success of the child she is employed to teach. She fails to set this child to learn what he can learn successfully. If, for example, the child has failed in fourth grade arithmetic or reading she will set him at doing more arithmetic and reading of this grade difficulty.

Perhaps he can succeed only at third or second grade level in arithmetic or even first grade level in reading. See then how almost helpless are his undertakings and hers? Having failed day after day, week after week, and month after month at school, the poor discouraged child is set to do the same hard, hopeless tasks on which he had labored so long and painfully.

Let me suggest to the parent who is about to select a tutor for her child that she first find out how this teacher plans to proceed, whether she aims to have him work at the grade level on which he failed or at a level low enough for him to enjoy success and build upward from there. The tutor will not need to be an expert at testing to find how far down she must begin with him—rock bottom. All she needs is good common sense at checking on his skill in the fundamentals. However low she finds him, she will not make him feel ashamed. She will build hope and courage in him.

In some instances, a parent having chosen a tutor has had this tutor write me or some other psychologist (better to see one), sending some records of his achievements on a standard test. Always I am glad to offer any advice I feel able to give in such instances and to especially in reading and arithmetic.

Self-Teaching, Too.

An occasional child, with a calm and patient parent, given the proper self-teaching material, provided he can be induced to work systematically for short periods daily, can make considerable progress without a tutor.

The poor reader above the third grade might gain most in learning to read if he were induced (even hired) to read aloud fifteen or twenty minutes a day to a child under six in order to entertain this younger child. Any parent or tutor wishing to have my personal reply to problems of this sort should write me at 235 East 45th street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

5-DAY SERVICE
SAM FOX DIAMONDS WATCHES JEWELRY

It has long been my belief that watch repair prices required a revision in Mansfield, in order that every one who owned a watch could keep it in first-class condition. That's why I have established a new lower priced repair service since opening my new store . . . one that is not a "special reduction," but that will be a permanent policy of this business. This newer, lower priced and much more rapid service, than Mansfield has ever before known is second to none in this entire state.

It brings to you for the first time a 5 day service . . . it assures the most highly skilled workmanship and thoroughness, and provides that only genuine parts are used, in all watches.

All watch repair work, no matter how small the job is FULLY GUARANTEED and is backed by my own reputation for ethical fair dealing during the past 18 years in this city.

Take advantage of this modern and economical repair service . . . now everyone can afford to keep their watch or watches in the best of condition, and to enjoy the accuracy the makers built into it . . . at a surprisingly small cost at this store.
